Do you still have limits on the number of people in a park?

We have always had capacity limits for our parks. All capacity limits are back to normal. Does that make sense?

Yes I guess I didn't know that you have always had them.. what is the best way to check and see if the park is at capacity?

Yes, we have. When the park is full, we close the gates.
Which park are you interested in and when do you plan on going?

My suggestion would be to arrive as early as possible. I'm not sure if you are enroute or not. The good news is, as some folks leave, they will let some more people in. Also, if Table Rock is closed there are several other state parks in the vicinity that you could visit until you could check back at Table Rock. We do not post openings/closings in real time.
