Nikki,

Frequent acts of terror. Out of control illegal immigration. An exploding national debt. And legal threats to our rights to life, keep and bear arms, and express our faith freely.

Our country has never faced such challenging times as we're facing now and I strongly believe Congress doesn't just need conservatives, but we need conservative leaders who will stand up for what is right even if that means losing votes. I'm committed to being that kind of conservative leader, but I need your help in order to continue the fight.

Over the past 6 years, I've stood up to liberals and the establishment in both parties. I've led the fight in Congress to protect religious liberty and voted against every needless spending bill. I'm committed to repealing and replacing disastrous Obamacare, which continues to place a heavy burden on Idaho's families.

It goes without saying that national liberals and some in the Washington establishment are not happy with my willingness to question the status quo and stand on principle, and in this unpredictable election cycle, they think they have an opportunity to defeat me.

We can't let them be successful.

Here's the deal: Every month our finance team sets a fundraising goal, and we are behind our internal goals for the month of August. I'm counting on you, as one of my most loyal supporters, to make a contribution of $35 or more to help ensure we have the resources to win in November. You can make your contribution here.

I know your commitment to conservative principles and above all our country. Thank you for trusting me to stand up for what is right - regardless of whether it's popular.

Best,

Congressman Raúl Labrador

P.S. I'm committed to being a conservative leader who will stand up for what is right, regardless of the political consequences. In these challenging times, I'm counting on patriots like you to stand with me by making a contribution today toward our August deadline.
