Weekly Legislative Update from Rep. Tom Young – April 17, 2012 to April 23, 2012

The House of Representatives is in session for 2012. I hope that you find the following information helpful and informative:

Restructuring – Elimination of Budget and Control Board: Since I started serving in January 2009 representing House District 81, I have advocated eliminating the State Budget and Control Board (BCB). Created in 1949, the BCB -- both unique to South Carolina and composed of the Governor, State Treasurer, Comptroller General, Senate Finance Chair, and House Ways and Means Chair -- has more power and oversight authority than any other part of state government. Only three of the five members are elected statewide and accountable to you and me as voters in Aiken County. Much of what the BCB does in South Carolina is done by executive branch agencies under the governor in other states. Substantial questions exist as to whether the BCB is good for South Carolina in terms of efficiency, accountability, duplication, and waste.

Last March 2011, the House passed and sent to the Senate the Department of Administration bill (H.3066) moving many of the agencies under the BCB to under the Governor's authority. During the debate, an amendment to eliminate the BCB was offered. I was one of only 7 House Republicans to vote for the amendment.

In June 2011, Governor Hailey tried to call the Senate back into session to pass H.3066 and three other restructuring bills. The Supreme Court ruled that she could not do that.

In late February of this year, the Senate sent to the House its version of H.3066 intended to restructure state government. While well-intentioned, the Senate version creates 8 new boards from the one Budget and Control Board (BCB) and actually keeps the BCB for certain reasons. To see a flow chart of what the Senate version will do, go here.

The House is NOT expected to concur with the Senate. Rather, the House will debate and amend the bill this week. The goal in the House will be to eliminate the BCB and to put most of the BCB functions in the Department of Administration under the Governor.

This bill is very important because it is a MAJOR restructuring initiative intended to improve efficiency and accountability. Further, it is critically important to get it right because the national credit rating agencies have warned that if the Senate version becomes law, then our state's AAA credit rating could be in jeopardy. Much will be said about this bill in the next few weeks. I will do my best to represent you and to report back on what happens and why.

Last Week's Legislative Session

Online Electronic Voter Registration: The House approved and sent to the Senate a bill (H.4945) allowing any person who is qualified to register to vote in South Carolina and who has a valid S.C. driver's license or state identification card to register to vote electronically on the website of the State Election Commission. Several other states already do this. I am a co-sponsor of this bill.

Human Trafficking: The House unanimously approved a bill (H.3757) that expands and increases penalties at the state level for human trafficking. This bill is the top priority this year for the S.C. Attorney General. It is intended to assist both state and federal authorities with the increasing problem of human trafficking both to our state and through our state.

Sales Tax Reform: A bill was filed in early March to eliminate two thirds of the state's 78 sales tax exemptions. The proposed exemptions to eliminate total about $250 Million per year. (The ones recommended to be preserved directly benefit families in our state including sales tax exemptions on gasoline; groceries; residential electricity; and prescription drugs.) This bill is one of several tax reform bills filed this session. Last week, a House Ways and Means Committee amended the bill to restore all but about $15 million worth of exemptions.

Congratulations to Joerg Klisch of MTU Detroit Diesel! Last week, the S. C. Department of Commerce and Governor Haley recognized and honored House District 81 resident Joerg Klisch of MTU Detroit Diesel as Aiken County's Ambassador of the Year for Economic Development.

Locals Elected by General Assembly: The General Assembly elected local dentist and Clemson graduate Dr. Ronnie Lee to a full four year term on the Clemson Board of Trustees this past Wednesday. Additionally, local businessman Tim Dangerfield was one of three people reelected to serve as an appellate panelist for the Department of Employment and Workforce.

This Week's Legislative Session

Cross Over Deadline: May 1 is the "Cross Over Deadline" in the General Assembly. This means that for any bill that is still pending to have a chance to pass this year, the bill has to pass either the House or the Senate before May 1 and then go to the other body for consideration. If passage of the bill does not meet that deadline, then the bill has to have a 2/3s majority agree just to consider the bill. For bills that create lots of discussion, that is difficult to achieve. Thus, the deadline has both procedural and practical significance. Because of the "Cross Over Deadline," both the House and the Senate will be busy this week.

Bills on House Calendar: The full House may debate several bills this week including the following:

- Video Gambling Ban;
- Freedom of Information Act changes;
- Department of Administration "Restructuring";
- Several tax reform measures.

Senate Campaign Update

Senate Campaign: Bumper stickers for "Tom Young for Senate" have arrived. They may be picked up at my office downtown at 409 Park Avenue SW or at the Tom Young Allstate agency on Whiskey Road next to Home Depot. If you prefer, I can send a sticker to you. Just let me know. Because no one else filed to run in the Republican primary for June 12, neither the office nor my name will be on that ballot. However, both the office and my name will be on the November general election ballot. I have started visiting areas around the district including most of Aiken, North Augusta, Warrentonville, Gloverville, Montmorenci, Couchton, New Ellenton, Jackson, Windsor, and Beech Island. To learn more about my campaign for State Senate, go to www.tomyoungforsenate.com, email me at tom@tomyoungforsenate.com, or call me at 215-3631.
