March 26, 2012 Continued

Monday

Bullying has become an increasingly dangerous aspect of daily life for some kids. Bullying is not an unpleasant rite of passage through childhood, but a life-changing experience for some. It has evolved with technology and is not just playground teasing anymore. I bet you can remember being bullied.

Sullivan's Island Elementary School takes bullying very seriously. The school is surpassing the local and state mandated Anti-Bullying policies to ensure their students do not become a statistic. Bullying starts in elementary school and gets progressively worse in middle school and potentially deadly in high school. Statistics show that about 160,000 children miss school every day out of fear of being bullied and some commit suicide as a result of bullying. This trend must stop!

Walker Russell, SIES's Guidance Counselor, along with Joy Harkins, SIES parent and founder of Peace-Pass It On, have teamed up for the 2nd year in a row to launch Peace-Pass It On, a nonprofit 501(c)(3) Anti-Bullying program. The program allows students to report bullying behavior in a safe and confidential manner. The programs reward system allows students to be recognized for acts of kindness toward others.

The program's mascot, Sully, is a one-clawed Low-country "red" blue crab with a peace sign on her shell. Sully is quite different and an easy target for bullying. Sully teaches children how to be a C.R.A.B. (Children Rallying Against Bullying) and how to T.R.A.P. a bully (Teach Respect And Peace). In addition to the Peace Program, Joy has written a collection of children's books. Her latest is called Sully's Token of Peace. Books may be purchased from the website, Island Time on IOP, and at Fordham Market in Beaufort, S.C.

For more information on donating or purchasing the Peace-Pass It On Program for another school or community program, please visit www.peace-passiton.org.

JBF is an India-based PET (plastics) company looking to construct a facility at Bushy Park or co-locate with BP on their property in the low country. Highly Confidential.

From JBF's website JBFRAK.COM: "JBF India Ltd participated in a joint venture project with RAKIA (Ras Al Khaimah Investment Authority) owned by prince of Ras Al Khaimah for setting up a world scale Polyester plant in the Emirate of Ras Al Khaimah.

...The facilities are located at Emirate of Ras Al Khaimah, U.A.E. The plant was commissioned and operational by Jan 2007.

Total Worldwide Employees:

unknown

Existing Operations in South Carolina:

If yes, how many employees in South Carolina?

None

Project Background:

BP industries in Berkeley is considering selling off some of its acreage on the Cooper river and partnering with a PET company. Six months ago we began receiving calls from PET producers worldwide who expressed interest in locating in SC near the Port of Charleston. There are currently three projects in the system; all with relatively identical parameters. Only one will get the contract, although all may decline to accept the final offer.

Because the BP move is highly confidential, none have disclosed that they are working to obtain the BP contract.

JBF recently contact us again to say that they are now ready to focus on moving the project forward by visiting South Carolina. They do not plan to visit with BP on this trip.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS:

- While I was very disappointed to learn about this incident, I am confident that SCDHHS and Director Keck are taking appropriate actions to get to the bottom of this and ensure that private information is being safeguarding.
- I've also spoken with Chief Keel and asked the IGs to assist in any way they can with the investigation (true?)
- One of the goals of this administration was to identify systemic problems in state government and fix them. It's through that process that this improper release of data was detected.
- I also want to tell Medicaid beneficiaries that they have a right to expect that government will keep your personal information private and safe. Please know that we're doing all we can to make improvements in how that's done, and will work to ensure the individual who released this information is held accountable.

DRAFT MEDIA ADVISORY:

April 19, 2012
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Jeff Stensland
(803) 898-2584
stensland@scdhhs.gov

SC Medicaid agency announces improper release of beneficiary information

COLUMBIA, S.C. — (April 19, 2012) During an agency performance review, the South Carolina Department of Health and Human Services (SCDHHS) discovered last week that an employee working within the Medicaid program inappropriately transferred personal information of 228,435 Medicaid beneficiaries to his personal email account, constituting a violation of agency policy.

The department discovered the transfers on Tuesday, April 10 and immediately contacted the South Carolina Law Enforcement Division to investigate the incident and also informed other state and federal agencies. The employee, who worked in Columbia, was terminated last week. It is not yet known why the individual sent the information to his personal email account but law enforcement is actively investigating. The transferred information was contained in 17 spreadsheets dating back to January 31, 2012 and included: names, phone numbers, addresses, birth dates and Medicaid ID numbers. Importantly, no private medical records or financial information was transmitted. In 22,604 of the cases, Medicare numbers, which contain Social Security numbers, were also linked to beneficiaries' names. More than 90% of the affected beneficiaries live in six counties: Allendale, Bamberg, Barnwell Lexington, Orangeburg and Richland.

"Our department is entrusted with personal information for hundreds of thousands of individuals, and it is our duty to secure that information," SCDHHS Director Anthony Keck said. "We are disappointed that one of our own would violate that trust and are deeply apologetic for not preventing the inappropriate release of this information." The agency is sending personal letters to all affected beneficiaries notifying them of this incident and explaining how to protect their information moving forward. Beneficiaries can also find more information at www.myscmedicaid.org and by calling 1-888-829-6561.

Although no health information was released, to address the possibility of identity theft and to give beneficiaries peace of mind, SCDHHS is making available a free year of identity protection services to every affected individual through Experian's ProtectMyID Alert. This service includes:

- A free credit report;
- Daily credit monitoring to detect any suspicious activity;
- A $1 million identity theft insurance policy.

—MORE—

The public is urged to be aware of scams. Aside from the letter to affected beneficiaries, SCDHHS will never call or otherwise contact those affected asking for your personal information. Beneficiaries are advised to never give out their Social Security numbers or other identifying information to people they have not personally contacted. Since the transfers were discovered, SCDHHS has taken several steps to safeguard beneficiaries' personal information and strengthen agency policies and procedures, including:

- SCDHHS has created a website at www.myscmedicaid.org to answer questions from beneficiaries and help them enroll in the free protection services.
- SCDHHS has established a toll-free call center at 1-888-829-6561 for Medicaid beneficiaries to learn if their personal information was affected and to enroll in free protection services.

- SCDHHS is placing print and radio advertising throughout the state as well as reaching out to local organizations and the provider community to help make beneficiaries aware of the incident and the services available.
- All files and computers where this information may have been stored have been impounded by law enforcement.
- SCDHHS has frozen access to aggregate personally identifiable health information for much of its staff.
- Additionally, SCDHHS has hired an external IT security firm to conduct an external risk assessment of its data and IT systems security.

Additional Resources

SCDHHS has established a special website with updates and Q&As about the incident: www.myscmedicaid.org.

The toll free call center is available seven days a week for beneficiaries to check if their personal information is affected: 1-888-829-6561 (9 a.m. - 9 p.m. M-F; 11 a.m. - 8 p.m. Sat.-Sun.)

The South Carolina Department of Consumer Affairs (1-800-922-1594) can assist the public with general questions concerning potential identify theft.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS/BACKGROUND:

Company/Project Background:

- Innovative Composites International is opening a new facility in Orangeburg County/City Industrial Park to produce composite modular homes.
- The $9.3 million investment is expected to create 300 new jobs
- Facility is designed to produce up to 5,000,000 square feet of modular homes annually
  - o The turn-key, 880-square-foot houses provide portable and permanent fast deployment solutions for disaster relief situations, mining camps, troop/command shelters and other housing needs.
- ICI's pipeline of affordable housing projects is currently in various stages of development in over a dozen countries worldwide
- The company believes the facility in South Carolina will help accelerate sales and lead to new projects
- Headquartered in Toronto, Canada, ICI develops innovative products for the transportation, construction and firefighting industries utilizing novel, proprietary materials and processes.

On behalf of the state of South Carolina, thank you for having me here today. This is an exciting day for Orangeburg County. Congratulations to Innovative Composites on reaching this milestone.

I'm thrilled to see another pioneering company set up shop in South Carolina. This facility will employ 300 people from Orangeburg and the surrounding areas. It's certainly a win for our state and a game-changer for one of our rural areas.

It also is an example of our strengthening ties with Canada. As a top trading partner, Canada is a major player in South Carolina's growing international investments.

Last year, Canada alone purchased more than $3.7 billion in products exported from South Carolina.

With accomplishments like the one we're celebrating today, South Carolina continues to show that it is a globally competitive place to do business.

Our state is consistently recognized for its business-friendly environment. Our workforce talent and training programs are also top-notch.

We also have unparalleled infrastructure and a strong manufacturing industry. You've heard me say it before and I'll say it again – we make things in South Carolina.

With these advantages, South Carolina will prove to be the perfect location for Innovative Composites to accelerate sales and continue to grow.

By opening its doors here in Orangeburg, Innovative Composites is launching what we hope will be a long and beneficial relationship with our state.

We look forward to Innovative Composites continuing to build on their operations here, and thank them again for recognizing the benefits of doing business in the Palmetto State.

Innovative Composites International Announces New Facility in Orangeburg County
$9.3 million investment. 300 new jobs.

COLUMBIA, S.C. – September 6, 2011 – Innovative Composites International Inc. (ICI), a manufacturer of advanced materials, today announced that the company will establish its new production facility in Orangeburg County. The $9.3 million investment is expected to generate 300 new jobs over the next five years.

“South Carolina has provided us with an excellent location for our new operations. We are pleased to move forward with plans to locate our new operations in Orangeburg County. We appreciate all the support we’ve received from state and local officials,” said Bryce Clark, vice president of Manufacturing for Innovative Composites International Inc.

ICI, which is headquartered in Toronto, Canada, will locate its new facility in the former DANA building in the Orangeburg County/City Industrial Park and will do business there under the name EcoScapes Composites LLC. The company will produce composite housing at the facility. The company expects to begin operations in the first quarter of next year.

“South Carolina is a pro-business state, and we celebrate ICI’s decision to invest here and create 300 new jobs. This is also another win for one of our rural areas,” said Gov. Nikki Haley

The turn-key, 880-square-foot houses can be put together in about two days and are earthquake and hurricane resistant. The company’s houses provide portable as well as permanent fast deployment solutions for disaster relief situations, mining camps, troop/command shelters and other housing needs.

“South Carolina’s business-friendly environment continues to create jobs. We are not only adding a solid manufacturing firm to our state with this announcement, we are also strengthening our ties with our foreign trading partners,” said Bobby Hitt, Secretary of Commerce.

Last year, Canada was the top destination for products exported from South Carolina. Foreign-affiliated companies (majority-owned) employ 102,600 South Carolinians – 6.9 percent of the state’s private industry employment. In all, foreign-affiliated companies have invested $37.38 billion in the state and created more than 149,000 jobs over the years.

“The County of Orangeburg looks forward to a long relationship with ICI. We are grateful that ICI chose Orangeburg County as its home and is offering job opportunities to the citizens of the county and surrounding areas," said Orangeburg County Council Chairman Johnnie Wright.

"We welcome Innovative Composites International Inc. to Orangeburg County along with the significant capital investment and jobs they are announcing today. South Carolina continues to be a magnet for international investment with Canada leading the way as our number one trading partner," said Central SC Alliance Chairman Jim Apple.

The state of South Carolina provided training funds and job development credits, which will be available if hiring targets are met. The county provided a fee-in-lieu-of-tax agreement and a special source revenue credit to the company.

The company will begin hiring for the new positions early next year. Anyone interested in job opportunities with the company should contact SC Works Orangeburg Center at that time.

ICI develops innovative products for the transportation, construction and fire fighting industries utilizing novel, proprietary materials and processes. The company was established in 2007 by a group of entrepreneurs with a successful track record in commercializing advanced materials. Strategy Session #1: Empowering the Future – The Florida Story

In 1998, Florida's 4th and 8th graders scored at the bottom nationally in reading and math on the National Assessment of Education Progress. On the same assessment in 2011, 4th graders scored above the national average in reading and math, while 8th graders scored just under the national averages. During the same time frame, graduation rates increased by 20%, and a shift in the entire culture of education in Florida occurred. Learn how high expectations for students, accountability for schools, choices for families and rewards for progress reversed a generation of decline in Florida's public schools and led to a collection of measurable results.

1:30 pm

Strategy Session #2: Empowering Through Options

America is experiencing a renaissance in education. And states around the nation are proving that there are as many ways to achieve choice and empower families as there are educational choices themselves. Yet, nearly every state in the nation faces a chronic problem with a pool of historically poor-performing schools. Learn how bold leaders are altering the course of history at these schools and changing the lives of students who attend them.

3:00 pm

Strategy Session #3: Empowering Through Customization

Technology has transformed nearly every aspect of our day-to-day life – work, communication, commerce and entertainment – except education. That is about to change. The seeds of the coming digital revolution are taking root in states across the nation. Digital learning – whether online or in a classroom – is yielding rising student achievement and, at the same time, addressing a myriad of modern-day challenges, including class-size mandates and teacher shortages. Learn the essentials of

Media Information for EMPOWER South Carolina Education Reform Summit

Summit to feature former Florida Governor Jeb Bush as special guest speaker

Columbia, SC – U.S. Senator Jim DeMint (R-S.C.) will partner with Governor Nikki Haley, Speaker of the House Bobby Harrell and SC Superintendent of Education Mick Zais to host the Empower South Carolina Education Reform Summit this Friday, April 27, 2012 in Columbia, SC. The event will begin with a lunch featuring former Florida Governor Jeb Bush, Founder of the Foundation for Excellence in Education, as the keynote speaker and will continue throughout the afternoon with various informational sessions and networking opportunities.

Attendees will join education policymakers and opinion leaders from around South Carolina and the nation to learn about important developments and best practices in education reform, grow South Carolina's network of education innovators and strategize on the path forward for empowering students.

The Empower Summit will be held at the Columbia Convention Center from 11:00 AM to 4:00 PM.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS:

- Too many politicians think that our commitment to education can only be measured in dollars, but I know that they're wrong. We already spend more per-student than many other Southeastern states, but too little of that money is making it into the classroom, where it can have a meaningful impact.
- When I prepared my Executive Budget for the upcoming fiscal year, my goal was to improve outcomes – to maximize the value of our investment in South Carolina's schools by focusing our spending and our efforts where they really make a difference.
- With this in mind, I had three overall priorities:
  - Quality and Innovation
  - Accountability
  - Effectiveness
- Quality and Innovation
  - Drawing from the recommendations of Superintendent Zais and the Education Oversight Committee, I recommended that we de-fund poorly performing programs and increase support for our Reading initiative and for educational technology.
  - I proposed $10 million in additional support for our charter schools because parents and children deserve choice, and because charters are incubators for fresh ideas.

- I also recommended $1.75 million for STEM Centers, plus $2 million more to expand Teach for America into additional communities. If we're in search of better outcomes, then we have to be prepared to try out new approaches.
- Accountability
  - My budget also proposed that we transition to a model of Accountability-Based Funding for higher education – to pay South Carolina's public colleges and universities based upon the quality of their performance instead of the quality of their lobbying. The General Assembly hasn't acted on this proposal yet, but we'll continue to press for it.
  - At the K-12 level, if we're to hold educators and administrators accountable, then we need a comprehensible method of evaluating their performance. Superintendent Zais believes that we should transition to a simple letter-grade approach to rating our schools, and I agree with him.
- Effectiveness
  - Our schools are most effective when our resources are dedicated to instruction instead of administration.
  - Just a few days ago, I was pleased to sign legislation to consolidate Marion County's three school districts into one. This will reduce overhead costs and get dollars back into the classroom. I hope to see more bills like this one reach my desk in the next session.
  - I also continue to believe that privatizing our state-run bus fleet and introducing an element of local choice would let our state's Department of Education focus on the more critical task of teaching our children.

Aerospace:

South Carolina has more than 180 aerospace manufacturing companies and suppliers, employing more than 20,000 people.

Aerospace-related sector for 2011 - $101.5 million in investment; 887 jobs

Some of the announcements in the aerospace sector from 2011 include:

April 27, 2012 Continued

Friday

Company:	Investment:	Jobs:
TIGHITCO, Inc.	$30,000,000	350
Carbures LLC (Easy Industrial Solutions)	$3,500,000	0
Honeywell International	$25,000,000	30
GKN Aerostructures North America	$38,000,000	250
AvCraft	$1,000,000	150
Southern Air Repair, Corp.	$750,000	20

Automotive:

Automotive-related sector for 2011 - $2.7 billion in investment; more than 4,600 jobs

Foreign Direct Investment:

Another area to be positive about - South Carolina is globally competitive for landing business.

Driving international investment:

- 1) High fuel costs making an increasing share of manufacturers' expenses in supply chain and distribution – makes on-shoring and re-shoring more attractive.
- 2) Economic uncertainty in Europe makes US a relatively more attractive place for more predictable growth and capital deployment.
- 3) Wages in China and rest of Asia rising rapidly compared to US – the cost advantage of these low-cost countries is becoming less compelling
- 4) Dollar exchange rate (to Euro or the world index) is depressed, making exports from the US less expensive, therefore a better place to manufacture currently. (trade agreements and tariffs also clearly playing a role, especially re tires).

Rick Stanley

A graduate of The University of Notre Dame with a Bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering, Rick joined GE Aircraft Engines in 1980. With GE, he pursued his Masters Degree in Aerospace Engineering from the University of Cincinnati and is a graduate of GE's Advanced Engineering Program. During his career, he has held numerous assignments in turbomachinery blade, rotor, structures and combustion design and systems engineering. He has participated on many GE Aviation product designs, including the F110, F120, CF34, CF6, GE90, GENx, T700, and F404 aircraft engines.

Increasingly responsible roles include Engineering Manager for the Structures Center of Excellence, General Manager for the Combustion & Configuration Center of Excellence, General Manager for Engine Systems Design and Integration Department, and General Manager of the CF6 Project Department. In 2003, Rick was elected a corporate officer of the General Electric company and promoted to Vice President and General Manager of the Aviation Engineering Division.

In November 2005, Rick was appointed Vice President and General Manager of the Engineering Division for GE Energy, with responsibilities for research, development, technology and product design activities spanning the Power Generation Gas Turbine, Steam Turbine, Gasification, Controls, Generator, Wind, Aeroderivatives, Nuclear, Solar and Services segments.

He has been awarded five patents, is an Associate Fellow of the AIAA, and is a member of the ASME. He is the 2005 recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Engineering award from the University of Notre Dame.

Paula Martin, Greenville Gas Turbine Plant Manager

Paula Martin is the plant operations manager for Greenville Gas Turbines, LLC.

Greenville Gas Turbines LLC is a division of GE Energy, and manufactures heavy-duty gas turbines for global energy markets. The Greenville manufacturing facility is the world's largest gas turbine manufacturing facility and is comprised of over 1.4M square feet of manufacturing space with approximately 1300 employees.

Prior to assuming her current position, Paula led the Thermal Sourcing organization in Atlanta, GA. In that role her team procured $6.2B of direct material, services, and logistics to support customers and business operations all over the world.

Paula joined GE with Aircraft Engines on the Manufacturing Development Program and held various manufacturing and sourcing roles in both Evendale, OH and Wilmington, NC. She then moved to GE Power Systems in Greenville, SC and held a variety of leadership roles in manufacturing including Rotor Machining Cell Leader, Six Sigma Master Black Belt, and Center of Excellence Leader for Combustion.

Paula Martin graduated from WV Institute of Technology, where she earned a Bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering. She lives in Greenville with her husband and three children.

Monte Atwell, General Manager

Thermal Systems & Gas Turbine Engineering

GE Energy

Monte returned to engineering in July of 2010 as the GM of Thermal Systems and Gas Turbine Engineering in Greenville. He is responsible for all heavy duty gas turbine NPI's, such as the 7FA.05 and 9FB.05 products currently underway, and the integration of these products into their plant level applications.

Monte has more than 27 years' experience in the energy industry in technical, operational and commercial roles. Prior to his current assignment, Monte served separately as both the business leader and the technology leader for the gasification business leading the team in the design and development and commercialization of IGCC "cleaner coal" technology.

Monte began his GE career in the company's Technical Marketing Program in 1984 and has held commercial and technical assignments in several GE businesses and product lines including power systems, controls and global research.

Monte graduated from Oklahoma State University with a B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering Technology, and resides in Greenville, South Carolina.

BACKGROUND (PROVIDED BY COMMERCE):

GE Energy has always had a strong presence in SC and makes large gas turbines. When things slowed in the economy, GE back filled their production with wind energy and aviation fan blades. They moved some of their wind energy out and moved the fan blades to their own location in Matrix Park (Greenville). From that point, GE focused on turbines. They have done several expansion projects since, and the most recent was in 2010 ($170 million investment). The total jobs at GE = approx.. 3500

GE also has ancillary projects in SC that include: GE Medical in Florence (magnetic imaging devices) and Venture Aero Bearing, a joint venture in Charleston – a ball bearing plant that is joint with SKF bearings.

GE employment = 3300

Going back to 2006, GE has had two projects:

- 1.) Announced in 2010: GE Power Systems - $170 million, no jobs committed
- 2.) Announced in 2009: GE Aviation (also in Greenville, airfoils plant) - $30 million, 100 jobs expansion

Additionally, these are Wayne Fritz's historical notes, not for discussion:
Last year GE was vying for the alternate engine, which is on the JSF35 joint strike fighter. Pratt & Whitney is the sole competitor. GE was lobbying in SC and to our Congressman to approve at the Congressional level, but it was defeated. One Upstate Congressman voted for Pratt & Whitney opposed to GE.

Another side note: The importance of the GE turbine facility and what a big deal it is was best illustrated by GE's commercial during the 2012 Super Bowl Game.

BACKGROUND:
The Rotary Club of Greenville is the original and largest Rotary Club in South Carolina. Sponsored by the Rotary Club of Atlanta, it was organized January 7, 1916 as Rotary Club # 205. Greenville leads District 7750 in fundraising, both locally through its Roper Mountain Holiday Lights project, and internationally through contributions to The Rotary Foundation of Rotary International. It is one of the 50 largest Rotary clubs in the world.

The club has sponsored many landmark projects in the Greenville community, including the original Textile Hall, Furman's original gymnasium and Manly Field, Rotary Lake at Camp Greenville, a YMCA Health Center, and the Rotary Family Literacy Center at the YWCA.

Most other Upstate SC Rotary Clubs trace their roots back to Greenville.
