It is all weather dependent, but generally, fall color peaks end of October, first of November in the SC Upstate. We will start a fall color update from Table Rock in a few weeks on our website: <https://southcarolinaparks.com/>

Hi I was wondering if you could tell me if the leaves have reached peak color yet at white water falls and if the leaves will still be pretty next weekend there? And also which other parts of the SC upstate would be best to view the vibrant fall colors next weekend ? Thank you!

Peak color should be about next week. I'm not sure about whitewater falls, but I'm sure it will compare to the fall color reports from Table Rock that can be found here: <https://southcarolinaparks.com/see-and-do/fall-foliage>
