Subject: OZY coverage of GOP Convention + Nikki Haley

Hi Chaney —

I hope you're doing well. Over here at OZY, we enjoyed the opportunity to cover Gov. Haley as one of our Rising Stars. I was hoping to discuss getting Gov. Haley in front of our 20 million readers again in what I think should be a fun and unique opportunity to engage voters. Since we last spoke, OZY has done interviews with Mitt Romney, Karl Rove, Grover Nordqvist and others as part of our 16 for 16 television series and our 2016 political coverage.

Both me and politics editor Neil Parmar will be at the GOP Convention in Cleveland next month. We were wondering if Gov. Haley was planning on attending at this time, and if so, if we could schedule a short meeting to interview her as part of our Ladies in Red series, where we're profiling Republican women who are leading and innovating within the conservative movement.

Ideally, we would schedule:

1. A 10-minute Facebook Live interview — from the convention in Cleveland or if Gov. Haley would prefer something off-camera:

2. A quick phone call interview or in-person interview at the convention— to get Gov. Haley's opinions on the Republican Party, the women who are doing great work within it, and what she expects in the party's future.

Do you think this is a possibility? If so, I'm happy to work out the details with you.

Feel free to email me here, or call at 470-233-2949.

Thanks,
