Got something cool for you! Our State Park Director, Phil Gaines, is off on an adventure. He will start at Caesars Head State Park tonight from the overlook watching a mountain sunset. Then he'll be off to Table Rock for a nap. After that he will hike overnight up Table Rock Mountain to capture the sunrise from the top. How awesome is that? Stay tuned here for photos and commentary from his adventure!

Terri Wallace Mostiller I want to go

Blaine K Owens Hope he has some clouds on the horizon. They are needed for a beautiful sunrise or sunset.

Jim Noe I ran into a bear last time I went up Table Rock in the late evening... scared the bear more than me, though.

Elton Chapman Can someone tell me, is it ok to hick and camp over night with my 11 year old son on the trail or on top of Table Rock ? We want to go backpacking for an over night soon.

Danny Ramey We went on a ranger-led hike at 3 am to the top of table rock, and the ranger told us people aren't supposed to hike it except park-guided hikes. They do that a couple of times a year, on full moon nights. Probably can contact Table Rock State Park or watch their website. It was an incredible hike! I have some photos on my web page: www.dannyrameyphotography.com go to menu/galleries/ 3 am hike
