My name is Bob Matyi and I'm a reporter for Platts Metals Daily. I'd like to talk today with Chaney Adams about Century Aluminum's Mt. Holly smelter that is likely to close later this month unless it can reach a power agreement with Santee Cooper. I know that have been recent calls by state legislators for the governor's office to get involved in the dispute to try to work something out and save the smelter's 600 jobs. What, if anything, is Governor Haley doing in this regard? My story deadline is mid-afternoon today, around 3 p.m. ET. She can reach me at (270) 827-8145. Thanks.
Bob Matyi, Platts.
