Dear SCIWAY Friends,

In just over five weeks, the people of South Carolina have raised $15,067 to save the South Carolina Picture Project.

This important online archive of South Carolina images and information, housed at SCIWAY, currently consists of 2,350 landmarks and 7,200 photos and paintings. The collection is the most complete and largest resource of its kind in our state.

As we announced earlier this month, the SC Picture Project unexpectedly lost its funding. That is why we are working so hard to raise funds. If we can raise just $4,581 by our tomorrow night, we can stay up-and-running another six months.

This would allow us the time we need to obtain 501(c)(3) status and then secure sponsors so we can continue documenting South Carolina's history and culture for years to come.

If you can help – even with a contribution of just $15 or $20 – you will be helping to preserve a South Carolina resource that is not only beautiful but deeply valuable to our state and her people. In fact, the SC Picture Project is used by over 1,200,000 people a year!

Can you add your name to the list of over 180 donors who have contributed to the SC Picture Project so far? You will never know how much we appreciate it, so please don't forget – if you can contribute $65 or more, you will receive one of these incredible signed photos as our way of saying thanks.
