Preventing Falls in Older Americans

Released today: new CDC data and resources for community educators

“Each year, one in three Americans over age 65 falls, and the fear of falling may lead older adults to limit their activities, which can worsen mobility, increase the risk of falling, and detract from quality of life,” said Nora Super, Executive Director, White House Conference on Aging.

“These new tools expand the resources available to support community-based fall prevention interventions.”...
