Rebecca and Holly,

Please provide me a status update on my request, since neither of you have have responded to my May 4 query. It appears that that I will be forced to litigate this matter at this point since the only status update I received was a "technical issue" you were dealing with.

Best,
Jason

Hi Jason,

Thanks for your e-mails. As I think Rebecca told you, we must re-do a considerable number of the documents, not only for your request but also for the numerous other requests we have received for these documents. We are working to complete your request along with the others. As soon as we complete the review, redaction, and copying of the documents, which we hope will be within the next few weeks, we will send them to you.

Thanks for your patience.

Holly

Jason – We are continuing to finish compiling the records of more than 10,000 pages thus far, half of which – due to a technological error – must be redone. This setback has pushed back our timeline, and we apologize for the continued inconvenience.
