On background: As a courtesy, we notified the lieutenant governor's office of the governor's travel.

Does the governor typically notify any members of her immediate line of succession when she leaves the state?

Since second in line Lt. Gov. Henry McMaster had already left the state did she still notify him? Or did she notify second in the succession chain Senate President Pro Tem Hugh Leatherman that she would be leaving the state?

Has she notified anyone in the succession chain of her trip out of state?
