Subject: FW: flags in honor of slain servicemen

We are beginning to receive legis calls and emails about the about the flags not being flown at half-staff.

Please let me know how we should respond.

Thank you,
KV

Katherine:

Apparently folks are a bit sensitive these days about when the flags are and are not flown at half-staff. I've received several emails/facebook posts regarding why the flags are not at half mast for the servicemen who were killed in Tennessee. The President is apparently not going to lower the flags. Just wondering if the Governor has considered doing it? I saw something yesterday where the NC Governor issued a statement and ordered that state's flags, I think for today. Just wanted to pass this along to let you know what I'm hearing in my neck of the woods.

Hope you're doing well and staying cool!

Larry
