Subject: RE: TR-310 Data Entry

David: We are concerned with the backlog and think the "13,000 new accident reports" referenced below are part of it. What must be done to achieve relatively "current" entry of all of these reports? As I recall, this function was transferred to DMV so that timely entry could be accomplished. Thanks. Larry

I thought my material came from Max, sorry Jimmy I gave Max the credit for the only info I had received.

You do not need to concern yourself with the backlog it will be taken care of by Wed. however, we already have over 13,000 new accident reports and I cannot enter any new information because Max has yet to provide us with new screens, the RFP was done months ago and put on hold due to lack of resources, I spoke with Elaine and told her this and Jimmy sent it to her about a month ago. Also, I have spoken with Col. Amos she is only concerned with accident data as it relates to commercial vehicles. We are discussing the possibility of using some of her key entry personnel that are paid with federal dollars to enter accident reports involving commercial vehicles.

I provided Elaine with the RFP material I had for cleanup and issuance of a new RFP. I don't know where that is? I still encourage the concept!
The backlog is still there as far as I know. Don't know what it is. My staff tells me that the data entry staff will not provide backlog info. to anyone but David Burgis.

Where are we on this? I know DMV was going to try to work on the backlog while the new screens were being implemented and Elaine was waiting on a scope of work so we could do an emergency RFP to see what our outside options were. Can someone tell me if we're still as far behind in entering this data as we were in our meeting or if the scope of work is finalized? Our federal funding for STP is at risk and Colonel Amos has a gun you know.
