rileynmcgill Im really not trying to say anything bad because I love what our park rangers do. But I do wish at poinsett state park they could do a better job learning about the alligators and wildlife. Im pretty sure people have been feeding this smaller 3-4 foot alligator and he will come right up to you in your kayak. Again I have CRAZY RESPECT for what park rangers do I just wouldn't mind if they had a better idea of what dangerous animals were in there pond/lake. And I do believe people have been feeding some of the smaller alligators in poinsett state park. Maybe some "Don't feed the alligators" signs would be nice. But I've seen them watching dogs dogs while swimming and had them swim within 10 ft of my kayak before I noticed herchsharwell Beautiful, just would be nicer if there were fish in the water. I went rising there last summer and all I caught were turtles. 😊
