

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20120130South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_10150568450178166

South Carolina State Parks

at 18:04:48 on 1/30/2012 UTC · 🌐

DID YOU KNOW that Devils Fork State Park is one of the few places you can see the Oconee Bell, a rare wildflower, blooming? The Oconee Bells bloom each year from mid-March to mid-April. An Oconee Bell Wildflower Walk with a park naturalist will be held at Devils Fork on March 15th. Go ahead and mark your calendar! For more info: <http://www.southcarolinaparks.com/things-to-do/wildflowers/oconee-bell/default.aspx>

Ingrid Jensen Szucs They are beautiful flowers.

at 18:46:55 on 1/30/2012 UTC

Joe C. Mullinax The link doesn't really give me additional info. What time is the walk? Where do we meet? This event is not listed on the Devil's Fork Programs & Events page.

at 18:53:25 on 1/30/2012 UTC

Patricia Trish Bryant This Oconee Belle loves Oconee Bells!

at 18:54:13 on 1/30/2012 UTC

Leslie Cook <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cufWYp4D28Y>

at 19:25:55 on 1/30/2012 UTC

South Carolina State Parks The program has not been listed on our website yet, but it is scheduled for March 15. We were giving our facebook friends a chance to mark their calendar in advance. More information will be posted as we get closer to the date. Thanks!
at 1:24:37 on 1/31/2012 UTC

Patricia Trish Bryant Leslie, THANK YOU for posting the link to the lovely song "Aconey BeLL" The song is almost as lovely as the flower!
at 1:34:47 on 1/31/2012 UTC

Cindy Wagner The Oconee Bell is mentioned in the book Saints at the River by Ron Rash that is being read as the One Book, One Columbia initiative.
at 14:18:32 on 1/31/2012 UTC

Tony McDade Be sure to check out the Geocaches in the area, including "Oconee Bell Nature Trail" (OconeeBell)
at 3:09:31 on 2/01/2012 UTC