

State of South Carolina

Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, each year, millions of Americans suffer the indignity of crime and, as a result, may experience emotional, physical, psychological, and financial harm; and

WHEREAS, since the beginning of the crime victims' rights movement, partnerships have formed among criminal and juvenile justice agencies, allied professionals, victim services, and the private sector to ensure that crime victims are treated with the fairness, dignity, and respect they deserve; and

WHEREAS, victim assistance organizations and crime victim advocates throughout South Carolina and the nation are dedicated to providing assistance, support, and comfort to victims while ensuring that their rights are protected; and

WHEREAS, individuals, neighborhoods, and communities across our state and nation gain strength and power by uniting against crime and for victims' rights and services; and

WHEREAS, with the theme, "New Challenges. New Solutions.", South Carolina Victims' Rights Week raises awareness of the vital importance of ensuring victims' rights on all levels and in every case.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Nikki R. Haley, Governor of the Great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim April 21 - 27, 2013, as throughout the state and encourage all South Carolinians to work together to ensure that victims are afforded their legal rights and provided with assistance as they cope with the financial, physical, and psychological impact of crime while celebrating criminal justice reforms and envisioning a future free from violence.
