3. Media Campaigns

4. Our proprietary technologies give abilities to create targeted lists for your business or public sector needs.

We have email lists totaling approximately 1.2 million including newspaper, radio and TV.

If you have lists for targeted messaging our servers can accommodate your lists for your custom messages also. We optimize messages for maximum SEO.

Email v. Social Media –

Email is less susceptible to censorship than social media. Most major social media platforms are self-appointed 1st amendment police where they decide whether or not your message or content will be allowed on their platform; ie, widespread censorship and throttling is reported on most all social media platforms, not to mention the risk of your message arriving in a hostile actor. Social media is high risk. Email goes from our server to their inbox... period. You are targeting decision makers not just feathers in the winds of whoever happens to stumble across your message...or stumbling out into the minefield of Social media blindly. Our analytics tell who opened and clicked through so you know who read your message.

We can't guarantee no risk with email; however, we can say from experience social media for controversial messages is high risk.
