<SUBJECT>Church Shooting Response and Confederate Flag</SUBJECT>
<MSG>

I listened to your speech in response to the church shooting. Wonderful! Your words, your message, and your delivery were excellent and very fitting the situation. I amended your message several times throughout.

Because activists were immediately calling for the removal of the Confederate Flag, using yet another opportunity to sanitize history, I wish you would have not mentioned an option to remove the flag. Does the shooter make his mark by being the impetus for the removal of the flag? I want the shooter to get any credit for anything.

As you so straightforwardly said the Confederate Flag was a South Carolina issue and South Carolina would make that decision. Whatever South Carolina decides, I welcome. I just don't want the shooter to have any apparent influence in this decision.

Lastly, America has made missteps along her growth road. We made adjustments and corrections along the way.

The Founders even started corrections of slavery in the Constitution. We still have things to learn. Does sanitizing our history help? Our children and grandchildren need to know all of our history, the good, the bad, the ugly. How else can they learn from the innovations as well as the mistakes? Somewhere along the way, we must apologize and forgive and move forward. Blacks as well whites and reds and browns have an obligation here.

I pray you be slow in your Confederate Flag decision. Don't try to wipe out any of our history us in moving beyond our history.

Respect and prayers for you and yours.

Governor Hailey:

I just contacted the Leadership of Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church, last week I contacted Mr. Mark J. Bourdon, Charleston's Chief Prosecutor along with both Ms. Loretta L. the U.S. Attorney General, & Congresswoman Nancy Pelosi, the U.S. House minority leader. I contacted them in reference to the tragedy that took place at the Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church. I encourage you to contact both Ms. Lynch & the Leadership of Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church, to find out what this is all about, if you don't know already. Once you learn, become aware, of the truth, please openly communicate/voice it on the platform you have.

Governor Haley,

I along with millions of others have watched the tragic story of the Charleston shootings and media rush and input from everyone who does not work, live or pay taxes in South Carolina. I want to know what to do including our idiot in office Obama.

Evidently taking down the Confederate Flag will solve all of our problems, it will create a racial harmony of untold proportions and there will be no more shootings anywhere in the USA.

If you politicians fold under pressure from outside influences you are all traitors to those who put you in to office. We did not vote for you to curry the favor of people from other states nor even omnipotent Obama himself. We voted for you to represent us, the citizens of SC.

The Confederate Flag did not shoot those people, nor did it make that nut case do anything. It was just a nut and should be tried, convicted and executed because he committed the crime. Not those who own weapons, not those who do value their heritage in an honorable way.

If we want to be "fair about the Confederate Flag" then let the voters of this State make the decision in the next years election in November 2016. Let South Carolinian voters decide, not politicians or media.

William D & Tammy B [REDACTED]

PS: We voted for you twice.

Thank you Gov. Haley for your leadership and courage concerning the effort for the removal of the Confederate flag from the grounds of the Statehouse. These events have become an integral part of the healing that is the only solution to such a tragedy. This will certainly be a part of your legacy. I thank you for that.

Nikki,

We have never met, but I wanted to send you a note. I have no idea if you will receive this, but I hope you do.

First - I commend you for recognizing the confederate flag needs to come down.

Second - as a mother of 3 Caucasian children, I have to say that I have been in denial about race in South Carolina and the genuine feelings of hatred that the confederate flag symbolizes to some people. Although I lived here in South Carolina most of my life, I've just been oblivious.

I grew up on a farm in Southern Indiana. The closest thing to diversity were the Amish people in the community. I didn't attend school with any black children, Asian children, or Hispanic children. I didn't think American Indians still existed. Then I married and moved to Charleston. I work for a company that employed predominantly African American people, many of which were single mothers that worked two jobs (and by the way, they preferred to be called black). I'd never seen anything like it. One of my best friends who has since passed away was a black woman. We used to walk every day and I remember walking with her during a Walk America event in downtown Charleston. She showed me a hospital. She said that used to be the black hospital that she had to go to when she was pregnant.

little. I looked at her and said, why would they paint those white bricks black, wouldn't that n building even hotter? She just shook her head and laughed at me. Yes, I admit it, I was cluele when she told me what it really meant, I was mortified. In my mind that was just stuff we rea about that existed a million years ago. I loved this woman and she was like a mother to me; I imagine anyone treating her any differently than me.

I lived there for 8 years then moved around with my husband's career and we have settled in Columbia and will be here the rest of our lives. When the confederate flag issue was raised in the past I always thought, well, I'm not from SC so it's not my circus, not my issues, and I never cared whether it was there or not. But oddly enough, I remember being appalled when the Ten Commandments plaque was requested to be taken out of the state house. I don't know what has happened since then, if it remained or not, but I was truly upset.

When innocent South Carolinians were killed last week because of the color of their skin, I realize this is my home, and this is now my circus, and I need to take a stand. The confederate flag reminds me of the Dukes of Hazzard, a TV show from my youth; but it reminds black South Carolinians that they were once enslaved and abused, and even people that I loved in my own lifetime were segregated, mistreated, and not even allowed to use the same hospital as I would have been.

In all honesty, I hope this tragic event can bring us together and closer as a nation and as a state. I think if you can get that flag removed and put away in a museum and that can remove a symbol of oppression to our population here in South Carolina then we will be making great strides toward harmony that I thought already existed. Racism is real. As much as I don't want to admit it, it is alive in South Carolina and the only thing I can do about is try to teach my children and future generations that we assess people by their actions or inactions, not by the color of their skin. My 11 year old daughter tearfully told me last night that the pastor of the church said that he forgave the shooter and asked God to have mercy on his soul. If the black community of that church can be humbled to pray for a person that has killed their family members, then I say the very least that a white community can do as a white community to support our fallen brothers and sisters, is to take down the flag so it may not continue to perpetuate the hatred that caused the shootings.

My family fully supports your intention to remove the confederate flag!

You could poll representatives and see if calling a special joint session to remove the flag would work. This tragedy happened when my wife and I were in Florida with our two grown children who have ties to Charleston and were deeply affected. I think most everyone I know feel it is time to quickly take the flag down.

Madam Governor!

I write to you in regards to the whole Confederate flag issue. Personally, it is not important to me if the flag stays or goes, but what matters to me is the left once again using a crisis to push their agenda. I feel that this is the beginning of them rewriting history. One, I understand that man used the flag in as a symbol of hate through the years and that it is now a divisive symbol. However, with the left, there is no compromise such as was agreed to in 2000, just as one author put it, "conversion or censorship." We cannot blame objects such as guns and a flag as making someone commit a horrible and evil act. The shooter is responsible for his actions. We are blaming other things instead. If the flag disappears, evil will continue and people will use it as a symbol of evil no matter what. What is next, remove all memorials and statues of Confederate generals and rename streets and buildings. Let's change Hampton Street since the Governor was a Confederate of South Carolina. Let's remove his statue from the Statehouse grounds as well as the memorial altogether. Let's forget the Confederate flag markers in our cementaries that honors those who fought. It is true slavery was a inhuman and evil thing to do, but we cannot erase it from our history. We learn from history that there continues to be slavery in the US in the smuggling of humans and in the sex trade. The ignorance of history that the left do not want to acknowledge. One, there were African American men who fought under that flag and that the majority of Southerners were not slave owners, just a minority. Also, slavery was not the principal issue, we forget that Washington was telling the world who they could and could not trade with. The war was about state rights. Slavery was an issue not the only one. Third, we will dishonor men such as Stonewall Jackson who personally was thrilled about slavery and even taught and supported a Sunday School class for slaves, where learned about the Gospel and reading and writing, something that was illegal. For his compassion and love for all Americans, he is the only Confederate general honored in an African American church, Fifth Ave. Presbyterian in Roanoke, Virginia. There were revivals on both sides as men to know Christ. Men fought for their beliefs, good or bad. If the GOP continues to lead this country with the left, we will be contributing to the eradication of the Civil War. Yes, it was a very dark period in our history as brothers fought each other, but it is part of who we are and we have a very long way and continue to do so. I am a proud Southerner and I will do what I can for us. I agree that we should do what is necessary to unite everyone, but not at the cost of our rich and diverse history. The left will never stop until they get their way. If the flag is gone, they will take the next thing, schools, buildings, and parks. I am a conservative and you have shown great leadership in this difficult time in our state's history. All I ask you is that you do what you think needs to be done as our governor, but not at the cost of our history or constitutional rights. We need to educate people on history, but more importantly, on when to report people who are showing dangerous signs so that we do not go through this again. I am proud of my brothers and sisters in Christ at Emanuel AME as they have shown Christ to the shooter and to the world through their forgiveness. This is what we should be focusing on and promoting, not blaming objects, books, programs, etc... for a sociopath's evil deed. We are responsible for our own actions. I love SC. I have traveled and lived in other parts of our incredible country and I prefer to stay in SC because it is the best and an example of Southern hospitality. We should aim for compromise as before and not let one side rule. The flag is part of a monument as a result of a compromise which demonstrates leadership. It is not of a sovereign nation. It is a relic that reminds us how far we have advanced. I have read that Wal-Mart and EBay are refusing to sell Confederate related items like flags and that some communities are moving to remove any link to the Confederacy from their towns. It has been said we must ask ourselves, who is really still fighting the Civil War, us or the left? Thank you for your message.

<SUBJECT>Anecdote related to Race Relations</SUBJECT>

<MSG>

Hello: I'm writing to share an experience while I was traveling through South Carolina. A young man who I met in the Raleigh NC area, who I still consider a friend - had me tag along on his way down to Tampa, FL with some friends - to plant a church. My friend's name is Jay [REDACTED] and he spent time living in Loris, SC along with his father Rocky and Francis [REDACTED]. Rocky was, and I believe still is, a pastor of some sort. During candid conversations with Rocky when he let his guard down and apparently felt some of these ideas were welcome, he revealed that he (and his congregation) do not want or welcome 'black people' to their services. This was somewhat surprising but at the time I felt as though I was on this strange journey to help move my friend, and I was a guest in their house - so didn't 'make a scene.' As I think about the recent national news relating to Emanuel A.M.E. Church, I felt that perhaps my one data point, and frankly 'real' experience with a 'real' South Carolinian was more telling and sadly representative (having only visited prior on vacation to your beaches) than a one-off backwards town or individual. I am aware that sharing such information, depending on how it's used, could damage Rocky - but it was and is flat wrong to express such views and those ideas should be exposed for what they are. I will be reaching out to local community leaders in the Loris area as well but would appreciate guidance on how to proceed. I was unsure how to categorize this message but choose 'Commerce/Economic Development' seemed to be the closest.

I am more proud to be an American as I witness progress in civil rights and race relations in the few years, and have been given hope by the response of many politicians and companies to t heinous acts.

I have always been an advocate and supporter of Nikki Haley, even when it was not popular. Because she has started this witchhunt which will lead to the abolition of my heritage, I heret pledge to do everything in my power to see that she is out of office, any office, at the next opportunity. The fine people at the church in Charleston were killed by a lunatic, not a Confe soldier, and the Confederate flag had absolutely nothing to do with his actions. The governor be ashamed when she sees the silliness she has created by making all things regarding our hei the scapegoat for this senseless crime. Shame on Nikki Haley and shame on those who are mindlessly following her lead.

I have never been prouder of my Governor than I was when you announced your desire for the Confederate Flag to be removed from the State House Grounds. I have been praying for this since 1962 when it was placed on the dome. It has always been a flag of oppression. I am a n South Carolinian whose Great Grandfather fought in the Civil War. But that flag stood for oppression when he fought and it stands for the same today and that is simply not what we stand for. It belongs in a museum where that part of our sad history is housed. It has no business being on the state house grounds. Some people use the excuse it is a part of our history. Those people would be outraged if they went to the capital city of Germany and saw Hitler's Swastika flying in front of the capital building and heard the people of Germany say, "We have it there because it is a part of our history and our grandfathers fought under that flag." Oh, but they killed Jews in the name of that flag. Well, we hung, beat, and raped under the idea of that flag.

I am so proud as a United Methodist that you, a United Methodist, heard the word of John Wesley who said those who believe in God through Christ will be people who do no harm to others though they may not look like you or believe just the way you do. Thank you for standing up in your church and saying this sign of division must go. It is about time. The Civil War is over....by the way of hate and division did not win that war either.

God bless you my governor!

Governor first I would like to say that I am very sorry for what that person (do not remember his name and I feel that is the way it should be) in your state or any state for that matter but I would just like to note that our country has been so white washed that we forget our history. Like the South was the one that fought for freedom for the black's not the north. The other item that I would like to bring to your attention is does anyone know what the NAACP stands for? Not sure that I have this right but you can Google it if you like but if my memory is correct it is North America Association of Communists. You are much better than I am with polite words but shouldn't these items be brought to the table? (NAACP) is trying to flush our country down the toilet???

AGAIN AS A PERSON WHO LOVES MY COUNTRY AND I DO NOT SEE PEOPLE BY THE COLOR OF THEIR SKIN BUT BY THEIR DEEDS.

MAY GOD BLESS YOU AND YOUR STATE

You are clearly not from an old SC family. Because some idiot committed an act of murder, a person not in his right mind you join in with the PC media to blame the southern people for this horror of madness which has nothing to do with the confederates or the battle flag. I had many relatives were killed who fought for the southern cause. They did not fight for slavery but to expel the invading union forces from their homeland. North Carolina did not secede from the union until Lincoln started a war with the south and called for soldiers from the other states to invade South Carolina and the others, North Carolina would not EVER invade a sister state and joined the new nation. YOUR WELCOME SOUTH CAROLINA. No southerner would die to defend the system they fought for their homes and way of life and to repel the ruthless northern invader. I never asked for the slaves to be freed Lincoln offered to permit slavery in the south if the south stay with the union. Freeing slaves did not become the goal of the war until the second year when Lincoln used it to gain the moral high ground and keep England out of the war. Now because we can't even place a flag on our confederate memorials is this freedom? Think about this the trade was carried out by the YANKEE shippers, George Washington owned over a hundred slaves Jefferson owned slaves and had a child by his slave girl. Washington was a racist so let us remove his name from history with the confederate flag.

You should educate yourself and not rely on Yankee propaganda. The shooting in Charleston is horrible we are all in shock but it was not the confederates who did it it was a crazy kid out of his mind. Learn about South Carolina and its history not just the Yankee propaganda.

The Honorable Gov. Haley

When you were first elected Governor you told the NAACP the flag is where they agreed and where it is staying. Now you want it removed, surely some sicko with a picture of the Confec Battle flag,didn't suddenly make it evil and racist. The flag is in memory of the tens of thou Southern soldiers that died in battle. It was never flown on a slave ship or flown on a slave plantation. In fact slavery wasn't an issue until Lincoln needed to rally the Northern soldiers. The war started because the South was sending cotton to Europe rather than New England co mills. Lincoln only freed Southern slaves,not northern slaves.

Now the blacks want to remove all Confederate war memorials from every where. This will r race relations. The only logical reason reason you caved is the blacks threaten to turn Charles a Ferguson. The killing in the church was evil and senseless, but no more evil than the killing mother of 3, the shooting a 15 month old in his crib, the recent killing of a father and his son way home from a birthday party, all done by blacks and sweep under the rug by main stream This is just a few of the atrocities on whites done by blacks. WHITE LIVES MATTER TOO! Removing the Flag will pull the plug on a dam that will drown us all.

Respectfully

June 24, 2015

Dear Gov. Haley:

My name is [REDACTED] and I am a PhD student in [REDACTED] at [REDACTED]. Fifteen years ago, as a secondary school student, I wrote a letter to then senior senator of South Carolina Strom Thurmond asking him why the Confederate flag still flew on South Carolina's state capitol. And as only a young kid would, I brashly appealed to Sen. Thurmond to sponsor legislation to remove the flag from the capitol grounds.

This week, amid national focus on South Carolina following last week's shooting in Charleston, I dug up the return letter that Sen. Thurmond wrote back to me and read it again. You can see [REDACTED] discouraging his reply was; how back then-and perhaps still now-the issue of removing the symbol of the slave-holding South seemed impossible even to talk about, let alone to actually implement. I've listened to, watched, and read countless news reports calling for South Carolina to finally remove the Confederate flag from its statehouse, I can't help but feel a sense of relief and a wobbly sensation that I wish I'd had as a young student fifteen years ago that a day like this would finally arrive.

Thank you for speaking out and supporting the cry for this long overdue change. I just want to share this letter with you, and to let you know that though change is only now starting to take place, the seeds for a better tomorrow have long been planted in the mind of America's students. A devastation that it took a grave tragedy for this cause to gain national support and to be real but I'm hopeful for what this means for the future of South Carolina and the United States.

Today, a real leadership moment was missed in South Carolina. It can never be regained and will forever be in infamy.

Shot and killed by a racist, Confederate flag-loving terrorist, state senator and pastor of Emanuel A.M. Church, Reverend Clementa Pinckney and his family were denied a moment of dignity. As a horse-drawn carriage with his casket aboard passed through the South Carolina capitol in Columbia, the Confederate flag still waved overhead.

In spite of all of the lip service from Gov. Nikki Haley about removing it, and in spite of it being abundantly clear that she could remove it temporarily for maintenance, she and the government of South Carolina refused to do so.

It's more than simply a moment missed but is truly an act of utter defiance.

Rep. James Clyburn, the elder statesman of South Carolina politics, requested that they take it down temporarily before this happened, but they refused.

We will never get that moment, that opportunity, back.

To The Honorable Nikki Haley,

As a Southern I am very disappointed that Obama won this battle in the removal of our Southern Confederate Flag, which this has been an on going thing for awhile. If people would read the history of what this flag just like our men and women today blood and guts was spill in this battle. I am proud of the stand that took in joining love and unity and coming together, but this still does not change the fact that this is our Southern Heritage....this flag did not pull a trigger or shoot or kill anyone except the confederate soldier died fighting for it and I am also offended because of my ancestor's who fought this battle as well and black and white fighting this battle in the South. All I have heard is this flag offends the blacks because slavery which has nothing to do with the Confederate Flag, and I am appalled that our Southern Heritage faded because of a black President who is elected into the White House and has done nothing but offend the Military, the American people and works his own agenda's to suit himself and our flag should fly high in honor of our Southern soldiers, guess the other States will follow S.C. in the removal to suit Obama's agenda, sad that this blood was shed for nothing, that it is removed at a time of this blame game, I am a Christian and God will hold people accountable for their actions and wrong doings and again my heart prayer goes out to the families.

Governor, what values do you possess? Pro-life, endorsed by Sarah Palin, you are signaling a value being placed upon restricting abortion than respecting adult lives. A racist murderer for to publicly adopt a policy of not displaying the Confederate flag and yet you openly disrespect dead by failing to remove such flag in your State Capitol.

Today, a real leadership moment was missed in South Carolina. It can never be regained and forever live in infamy.

Wal-Mart, eBay, Amazon, Sears, and even the State of Alabama all moved to remove their Confederate flags, but that banner still flies in South Carolina.

This is despicable. Are you so indebted to your backers, to the Southern tradition of exclusionary racism directed to blacks, that you are not sensitive enough to effect progress in race relations? The mass murder was in essence, a hate crime. And that raises the major issue of "how did that heinous imbecile obtain a weapon?" Why do you oppose background checks? Why does South Carolina permit widespread gun ownership? You can do much, much more.

Not even lowering the Confederate flag when the US and State flag were lowered in memory shooting victims says to me that those promoting the use of the Confederate flag lack common decency and human compassion. It is a statement of continued belief in slavery, racism and the that the "South will rise again." Supporters say it is a part of their history. Yes, a history in which the flag was intended to represent the continuation of slavery. My thanks for your courage and insight into why the flag is now divisive and does not help the healing of the community.

Thank you for the splendid job representing the great state of South Carolina during the recer surrounding the tragic shooting in Charleston, as well as the Confederate flag issues.

I'm fiercely proud of my southern heritage, my home state of South Carolina, and her role in t making of this great nation. I would like to request that when the flag is removed from the St House grounds, I would like to obtain the flagpole. This is not a joke. I do not know what the are for it, but I feel as though it should be treated with reverence. I'll remove it to my home in Lexington where the American flag would then fly from it.

GOV. HALEY...

Greetings!

I just wanted to say that it is VERY unfortunate that you chose to acquiesce to political press expediency by removing the Confederate Flag from the SC State House. I do understand and appreciate WHY you chose to remove the Flag. HOWEVER, we are now seeing how Leftist government and our culture are going to use the wake of your decision to help restrict - even our precious freedom of FREE SPEECH.

YOUR HONOR, what we TRULY NEED in EVERY form of government today (in our blessed country) are politicians who ARE NOT reactionary and impulsive in their executive decision policy making. Not because of any ideology or philosophy you are wishing to publicly perpetuate this is why I personally have NO PROBLEM with your intentions...I trust them. IT IS THE IDEOLOGY OF THE LEFT THAT IS NOW USING THE GROWING, NATIONAL AFFECTION THAT YOUR DECISION HAS IGNITED! IT IS THAT WHICH I DO NOT TRUST! They change the very history and fabric of our GREAT NATION...This is EXACTLY why you who have been blessed and appointed by God to lead us MUST THINK BEFORE YOU MAKE DECISIONS LIKE THIS!

I truly have faith in you, Gov. Haley. PLEASE MAKE A SPEECH BEFORE THE PRESS EXPLAINING WHY YOU MADE THE DECISION TO REMOVE THE CONFEDERATE and, DELINEATING BETWEEN YOUR CONSERVATIVE IDEOLOGY/PHILOSOPHY, THAT OF THE LEFT...Spell-out to the public how and why the Left is using this issue to te at our freedoms...PLEASE DO THIS, YOUR HONOR!!

Thanks You!

Sincerely Yours & Praying for You,

Rev. Darin F. [REDACTED]

Governor,

I am appalled that you reacted so quickly to the radical agenda of the left. It was a knee jerk r and given time to ponder it I would hope you would have reacted differently. If we allow the to dictate policies all will be lost. Why not put the flag to a vote to find out what your electors wants? As a citizenry we are getting tired of leadership taking away our rights so readily. I do any affiliation with the confederate flag but I am a staunch advocate of our rights. I am proud South Carolinian and I am normally in support of your policies.

Your decision to remove the Confederate Flag was wrong. The flag didn't commit that horrib at the AMERICANS church. That flag is a symbol of a courageous battle the Confederate sol fought, not of slavery. There were Northerners who also had slaves. Do you think the U.S. fla should be removed also? Trying to change our history is NOT going to stop hate crimes or ra acts by some people. You libs would like to change the history of the entire country. I think y very wrong in trying to change the history of the southern states.
