

Another First 3,28,40

Columbia was the first city in the United States in which a weekly magazine on local housing was issued, the national publication, "Public Housing," reported in its issue this week...The local publication, authorized by the Columbia housing authority, is edited by William R. Geddings, manager of University Terrace and former Columbia newspaper reporter...Other publications that followed the Columbia magazine were Macon, Ga.; Los Angeles, Cal., and the North Carolina council of housing authorities at Wilmington...The local magazine is the "Housing Herald."

* * * * *