

State of South Carolina

Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, Americans of Scottish, Irish, Welsh, and other Celtic descents contribute significantly to the economic development and cultural richness of our state and nation; and

WHEREAS, the Declaration of Arbroath, the Scottish Declaration of Independence and the inspirational model for the United States Declaration of Independence, was signed on April 6, 1320; and

WHEREAS, through their achievements in areas ranging from science, technology, and medicine to government, politics, and economics as well as architecture, literature, and the visual and performing arts, Scottish Americans have helped secure our country's status as a leader in the global marketplace; and

WHEREAS, Tartan Day South provides a unique opportunity to celebrate and experience the rich heritage and traditions of our Scottish forefathers.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Nikki R. Haley, Governor of the Great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim March 31, 2012, as throughout the state and encourage all South Carolinians to honor Scottish Americans for their many contributions to the economic and cultural development of the Palmetto State.

TARTAN DAY SOUTH

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Nikki R. Haley". The signature is fluid and cursive.

NIKKI R. HALEY
GOVERNOR
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA