Can you meet with him on the 18th 11:15 or 11:45?

You mind forwarding this to Sen. Alexander? If he has a couple of minutes, he might want to take a quick look at the press release and the Washington Post story that are linked in the announcement below. This all ties back to the "pay for success" bill he introduced last week (S. 763).

Also, if he has the time, I'd like to spend 10 minutes with him next week to talk through some of the procurement issues associated with SIBs. We'll need his guidance/input as we move forward on the SIB project at HHS. Thanks.

Subject: SIB Lab announces competition winners

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

The Harvard Kennedy School's Social Impact Bond Technical Assistance Lab (SIB Lab) is pleased to announce the next six governments who will be receiving our technical assistance to develop pay-for-success contracts using social impact bonds (SIBs). These governments are:

- Colorado/Denver
- Connecticut
- Illinois
- New York
- Ohio
- South Carolina

They were selected in a national competition funded by The Rockefeller Foundation.

Read the full press release here. Read the story in today's Washington Post here. For further information about our work, please visit www.hks-siblab.org.
