Subject: The New Network of Care tools – a Game-Changer for AAAs, ADRC Reporting, and Direct-Care Worker Training

Hello Tony,

The award-winning Network of Care for Seniors & People with Disabilities has evolved into a state-of-the-art, comprehensive solution for Area Agencies on Aging with a remarkable suite of features:

- The Network of Care Web portal itself is a locally customized outreach and information tool that informs, engages and assists clients in a powerful and meaningful way — with all services and programs, support, news, Personal Health Records, health tools, and much more.
- The system has a companion Call Center referral platform that is ADRC-compliant and fully integrates into the Network of Care Service Directory. It can easily generate reports and assists with care planning for the individual. Referrals can be automatically stored into the Personal Health Record. This platform is free to any AAA that has the Network of Care and is free to any agency within the AAA's jurisdiction.
- A new and remarkable online eLearning program with dozens of courses for Direct Care workers is now available, making it far easier to train in-home workers in a more cost-effective way.

This suite of services uses Internet technology for a social purpose that is changing the way AAAs and county Departments of Aging interact with their constituents. Piloted in California by the State Department of Aging, this program can now be easily and affordably replicated to any jurisdiction in the country.
