We Are Adystech!

- We develop and deploy scalable enterprise solutions within community services organizations.

- Respected national presence in state, federal, and non-profit organizations.

- 65 dedicated IT professionals committed to reducing your total cost of ownership.

Beyond the Software: Our Commitment to Addressing the Needs of the Communities We Serve

We are dedicated to implementing innovative solutions that address educational barriers and economic challenges within our community. To that end, we foster strategic partnerships focusing on best practices that benefit underserved communities. We also dedicate a portion of our corporate resources toward strengthening local businesses, as well as conducting outreach to community leaders to educate and measure the impact of our solutions.

Doing More with Less

In today's cost-conscious business environment, we all have to do more with less. And the demand of funders to receive quality reporting on populations served has never been more important. Through the use of evidence based practices and state of the art automation, our Outcome Enterprise Solutions enable you to deliver the broadest spectrum of human services within your local community while providing funders with critical reporting information. And consolidation of your organizations data silos into a single Outcome Enterprise System will substantially reduce the cost of delivering these services. Use our enterprise focused technology to achieve substantial savings now, and reduce your organizations total cost of ownership over the long term.

Presenting the Adaptive Enterprise Solution (AES)

With AES, your enterprise is able to:

- Measure relevant achievements within various programs using standardized criteria;

- Track the history and trends of client achievement with associated costs, while measuring agency effectiveness in delivering results;

- Measure funders' dollars as it relates to client gains and services .

An Outcome Focused Approach

Our outcome focused solution uses a proven enterprise approach to automate the collection and maintenance of required program data. Through the consolidation of systems, unnecessary costs and inefficiencies are greatly reduced.

Completely turn-key, our outcome enterprise solutions provide the best ROI in addressing this challenge.
