STATEMENT FROM THE CREATIVE COALITION

THE RIGHT TO BEAR ARTSSM

An imaginative and expressive population, being necessary to the security of a free State, the Right to Bear ArtsSM shall not be infringed.

America needs the Arts as much, or more than at any time in our history. We need the Arts to challenge, educate, enlighten, and entertain. And, we need the arts to help us find meaning and to heal us in these divisive times. It is our responsibility to protect, defend and promote the Arts for all our citizens. Not only are the Arts one of the most significant drivers of the American economy, they are the engine for building communities from our smallest towns to our largest cities.

“Today, on behalf of The Creative Coalition, we call for the right to maintain an imaginative and expressive population, being necessary to the security of a free State. We are calling for the Right to Bear ArtsSM. The Arts are the universal language of our humanity. Writers, musicians, actors, poets, all artists: it has never been more important to connect to our population so that we can confront the difficult issues that face us.” said Tim Daly President of The Creative Coalition.

Robin Bronk, CEO of The Creative Coalition added, “The Arts remind us what is great about America and inspire us to make our world a better place. They are the greatest messenger for social welfare. The arts are not a red issue, nor a blue issue, they are a human issue. Arts are a commodity for all.”
