

From: Policy India <info=indiaincorporated.com@mail6.atl71.mcdlv.net>
To: Mayer, DougDougMayer@gov.sc.gov
Date: 3/24/2015 5:50:25 AM
Subject: Policy India – India's conviction based reforms, Interview: India's FM Jaitley & Ratan Tata, coal & mines bill passed, shift to National Sector

Insights for Policy & Public Affairs Specialists

24 March 2015

India's move from compulsion economics to conviction economics - Modi scores high

by Manoj Ladwa

What a transformation a quarter century of economic reforms has wrought! Yesterday's basket case is now cited as a role model for the world.

India back on investor radar: India Inc. Interview with India's Finance Minister

by India Inc Staff

India Inc. spoke to Indian finance minister Arun Jaitley and probed him on key issues like retrospective taxation.

Whither a true National Sector

by Sidharth Birla

The fundamentals of value creation are simple - businesses must earn return on capital greater than its cost. It is seen that companies with long-term horizons and keeping stakeholder interests create more value and are therefore considered successful.

India has got a new spirit: India Inc. Excl. Interview with Ratan Tata

by India Inc Staff

Ratan Tata is one of India's best known industrialists who, during his tenure as Chairman of the Tata Group conglomerate, has been the architect of some of its most high-profile acquisitions.

How the coal and mines bills came to pass in India

by India Inc Staff

The Modi government has managed to pilot three major reforms initiatives – on insurance, coal mines and mines & minerals – and pass them into law, thus, removing a cloud of uncertainty over the direction of economic development in India.

Advisory Services

Policy India is where leading public affairs and policy experts provide incisive commentary and insights into the thinking and impact of Indian government policy. Our contributors are available to provide specific advice upon request.

Please contact experts@indiaincorporated.com
for further details of this service.

Advisory Board

MANOJ LADWA

Chief Executive
India Inc

ASHOK MALIK

Political Commentator &
Columnist

This email was sent to dougmayor@gov.sc.gov
why did I get this? unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences
India Incorporated · 78 Pall · Mall · London, SW1Y 5ES · United Kingdom