

From: The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau <donotreply@consumerfinance.gov>
To: Kester, Tonykester@aging.sc.gov
Date: 11/24/2014 2:51:59 PM
Subject: Food for thought at Thanksgiving time

Good afternoon,

Thanksgiving is a time to eat your favorite dishes and have fun with family and friends. It's also a time for family conversations about serious matters. The CFPB's resources on managing a loved one's money and preventing elder financial exploitation are great tools to share with people close to you.

Check out these resources and download or order a copy:

consumerfinance.gov/blog/food-for-thought-at-your-thanksgiving-table/

Money Smart for Older Adults is an educational program that teaches older adults and their caregivers how to spot scams and frauds. Managing Someone Else's Money is a set of four guides for financial caregivers to help them understand their duties, and how to guard against financial exploitation.

We're working to empower older Americans and their loved ones to prevent financial exploitation.

Thank you,

Naomi Karp
Office for Older Americans
Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

Update your subscriptions, modify your password or email address, or stop subscriptions at any time on your Subscriber Preferences Page. You will need to use your email address to log in. If you have questions or problems with the subscription service, please contact web@consumerfinance.gov.

This service is provided to you at no charge by the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

1700 G Street, NW

Washington, DC 20552