Subject: Re: Question

John I think most agree with me , but unlike me since most of my living is made out of SC , many fear retaliation by the chamber and advertisers who support the chamber as they don't know nor care about the abuse to just 30 local media companies . Again we are outnumbered and unless every media is willing to stand up and unite it's me alone against 40,000 perhaps . However we do have support from most of the 40,000 on FOIA, transparency , accountability , performance measures for our tax dollars as well as excessive salaries and 1.7 million home for our Chamber head . Also no elections for members to serve on chamber board only appointed by Bill miles if you are loyal . Thanks

SKIP: I assume this long list of recipients includes many/all of the local HH media companies you say have been damaged by Chamber/VCB ad sales. If that is the case, I would expect that some, if not many of them will respond and voice their support -- even if "off the record."
Please make sure I see/get all of the responses.
AND: If you get no response, as usual, it seems to me you are wrong and they do not care.
I hope I am wrong for obvious reason.

Subject: Re: Question

John I feel some of this does relate and also we need to take into account the state laws and language for how a DMO is supposed to act and invest public funds . We also need to tie in the language and role of a separate cvb not a chamber tied into this which we all already know should be separated like most cities in America . We also need to tie in the fact we have massive IRS
