DEW Business E-News

In a recent national report, South Carolina ranked third in the nation as one of the best states to do business. Understanding that this does not happen by chance, DEW is committed to the financial and economic prosperity of SC's businesses and citizens. The business community is a vital part of the equation.

DEW specializes in workforce development and training and informing businesses about the unemployment insurance process and how it is beneficial to participate. While we want to ensure businesses have the employees they need to prosper and grow right here in South Carolina, we also want to help save time and money.

In this issue, you will read about the agency making its second unemployment insurance trust fund loan payment this year. This early payment allows the state to apply for a fourth consecutive Federal Unemployment Tax Act credit reduction on behalf of S.C. businesses, and could potentially save them thousands of dollars in federal unemployment taxes. And, because we know your success depends on a skilled workforce, we have included an article below that discusses how everyone plays a role in reemployment.

As always, DEW remains dedicated to meeting the needs of the state's business community and providing you with the tools to succeed and thrive in today's growing economy.

Sincerely,

Cheryl M. Stanton
