

Dear Readers:

Please note we only have four pages for this issue of the Market Bulletin. Normally, the Market Bulletin has eight pages per issue. Issues around the holiday season usually have less ads than others throughout the year, so the print size may be larger than normal. The print size varies with the number of ads we receive. As the number of ads increase, the print size decreases. However, due to fewer ads for this issue, the issue contains only four pages. We will do our best to keep the size as large as possible, but, from time to time, the print size may be small so that we can include all of the ads we receive from you.

SC Nursery and Landscape Association to Meet in Myrtle Beach

The South Carolina Nursery & Landscape Association will hold its annual trade show and seminar program on February 7-9, 2002 at the Myrtle Beach Convention Center in Myrtle Beach, SC.

Dr. Carl Whitcomb, Professor of Horticulture, teacher, researcher, and lecturer will give two presentations: Weed Control for Field Grown Trees and Propagation by Cuttings. He has written 4 books and won numerous awards dealing with horticulture. Dr. Don Ham, Dr. Ted Whitwell, Dr. Bill Bauerle, and Dr. Steve Jeffers, all from Clemson University will also speak. Judy Sharpton, Growing Places Inc. marketing specialist will give two presentations for retailers.

Other topics include Spanish Communication, Runoff Water Management, Risk Management, and water related topics will be discussed. Following the General Session, there are three concurrent educational sessions, one for landscapers, one for wholesale production, and one for retailers. More than 20 nursery and landscape related presentations will be given.

The Growing a Green Industry Business will be held on Friday February 9 for those who are interested in starting a greenhouse, nursery or landscape business. The program seminars include Taking Control of Your Business, Marketing 101, Get It in Writing - Legal Considerations for Your Business, and a panel discussion with industry members will be held. Registration for the program is $75.00. Representatives from the various regulatory agencies will also be available for questions.

The seminar programs will be held on Thursday, February 7. The Trade show will be open Friday and Saturday, February 8-9. On site registration is $55 per person for both the seminar program and the trade show, a trade show badge only is $15. The 280 plus booth trade show offers a wide variety of plant material, equipment, and supplies for the nursery, greenhouse and landscape industry.

The Certified Nursery Professional test will be given on Saturday, February 9. Pre-registration is required for the test.

The South Carolina Greenhouse Growers Association will hold its Annual Winter Meeting in conjunction with this event. There will be a day full of seminars on Friday, February 8, with a 2 hour break to visit the trade show. The registration fee for the SCGGA winter meeting is $30 and includes a badge for the trade show.

For more information about any of these events, call the SCNLA office at 864-592-3868.

SC Pork Industry To Hold Conference

The SC Pork Board will hold its annual conference at the Landmark Resort Hotel in Myrtle Beach from February 6 to February 8, 2002.

Several reports during the conference will focus on new environmental regulations. The conference will include a Board Meeting on Wednesday, a workshop on Artificial Insemination and a seminar on Economic Prospects of the U.S. Pork Industry on Thursday including an auction on Thursday evening and a conference wrap-up on Friday morning.

Advanced registration is $15 per person and registration at the conference is $20. The fee covers all conference meals, receptions and seminars. Room reservations should be made as soon as possible with the Landmark Resort Hotel at 1-800-845-0658. For more information, contact the SC Pork Board, 803-734-1768.

Forestry 101 Offered To Forest Landowners

The Lexington County Extension office invites landowners to participate in Forestry 101, a forestry course designed for beginners who wish to refresh their knowledge of forestry. The course will be held at the Lexington County Extension Office, 605 West Main St., Suite 109, (the old Kroger grocery store behind the Lizard's Thicket) in Lexington for six weeks beginning Thursday, February 7, 2002. Except for the final class, which is forest taxation, each class will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Forestry 101 is the same course that college students would take as an elective course but with little or no homework and no "Tests."

Cost for the class is $30. For those who wish to buy the college text, the cost is an additional $50 for the textbook, Forest and Forestry, 5th Edition. The text is not mandatory, but is a great all-around reference book for forest landowners. Even though course participants may choose not to purchase the textbook, they will receive a course outline and helpful handouts.

The deadline for pre-registration for the Forestry 101 course is January 25, 2002. To pre-register for the course, call Carolyn Robinson, 803-534-6280.

New Hope for the New Year

Symbol of Hope

Through the ages, the anchor has stood as a symbol for hope. A small anchor at the door entrance showed friends and family that the sailor had safely returned home. During this time of conflict, let's remain steadfast in the hope that the men and women in our armed forces will remain out of harm's way and that they will return safely to their homes soon.

As we look forward to the New Year, promises of better times and more efficient ways of handling operations appear on the horizon. Farmers have faced many challenges over the past several years, but they always manage to persevere. Their strong spirit and their love of their art keep them driving towards the future. I applaud each and every farmer and South Carolinian who has continuously supported agriculture. Times are tough, and being in the business of agriculture is not always easy, but 2002 gleams brightly and assures us that there are new experiences and new opportunities waiting for each of us. I would like to share a poem by Helen Steiner Rice that I have kept over the years that embodies this spirit of new hope.

As we start a New Year untouched and unmarred,
Unblemished and flawless,
Unscratched and unscarred,
May we try to do better and accomplish much more
And be kinder and wiser
Than in the year gone before –
Let us wipe our slates clean and start over again,
For God gives this privilege to all sincere men
Who will humbly admit they have failed in many ways
But are willing to try and improve these "new days"
By asking God's help in all that they do
And counting on Him to refresh and renew
Their courage and faith when things go wrong
And the way seems dark and the road rough and long—
What will you do with this year that's so new?
The choice is yours—God leaves that to you!
---Helen Steiner Rice

The SC Department of Agriculture and I wish you and yours a wonderful season filled with faith, hope, and love for the New Year!
