Skylar William Satterfield Another year doing it wrong, there needs be a few to open spots for Campers instead of clogging up the campground with boats.

Teresa Walden McCammon 12 month leases for boat slips but you can't reserve a campsite for more than 2 weeks?

James T Turner I live in coastal SC and I have the logistical problem of getting my boat and camper to the lake at the same time. This appeared to be a solution until I saw the price and the terms. Sometimes I think our state parks are beginning to cater to the wealthy instead of making things accessible to the common folk. I wanted to rent a villa at Devil's Fork so I could bring my boat. Got my feelings hurt real quick. Very expensive.

James Lance The way I remember those villa's at devils fork...[I fished a lot on jocassee 80s...90s..] Duke power built them & gave them to the state ...probably for a tax write off...state has nothing in them so why charge so much?...

Brett Flashnick Any option for those of us who live in the area and would like to access the park by water?

Penny Baskin Most coastal campgrounds are catering to the long time campers (7 day minimum) rather than local campers that just want a few days at the beach. And if your lucky and have the $$$ you can make a reservation a yr in advance. Some hotels are cheaper.

Michael Boone Hmm...would we be able to fish on it if no boats are around?
