

William Carter, Jr. Educational Tour, Health Awareness and Basic Skill Basketball Camp
Daily Points of Light Award
Charleston, South Carolina

June 4, 2016

The Honorable Nikki R. Haley
Governor of South Carolina
Office of the Governor
1205 Pendleton Street
Columbia, S.C. 29201

Dear Governor Haley:

The 12th Annual William Carter, Jr. Educational Tours, Health Awareness and Basic Skills Basketball Camp will hold its 2016 activities for children / youth in Charleston/North Charleston on June 17 and June 18, 2016. The college enrichment tour will be Friday, June 17, 2016. Students will explore educational opportunities at Francis Marion University and Coastal Carolina University. Students will attend information sessions, tour the campus and have lunch on campus.

On Saturday, June 18, 2016 free basketball camp will be held for children /youth age 5 through 13 years old. The camp teaches basic skills to the children/youth. Campers that have good basic skills have better chance to make the team. They also are easy to coach and make less turnovers in the game and have good court awareness. Two of the camp instructors are former native of Charleston. Both played high school basketball in Charleston. Both played college basketball. One is a former head college coach and the other is an assistant college coach from Baltimore, Maryland. Third camp instructor is returning for his 11th year is also a former college player. He is from Georgia. Campers will receive free t-shirt. Over 350 children /youth came to camp free. The camp is limited to 30 campers.

Enclosed is a college enrichment tour t-shirt for you.

Please keep up the good work for the State of South Carolina .

Sincerely,

Minister Bernard Johnson, organizer/director

It was the kind of game that made many of the spectators wish that both teams could have won. C. A. Brown and Garrett played last night for the 8-AAA Conference championship and the right to go on to the state playoffs.

The Panthers had trailed Garrett for most of the first half but made a tremendous effort to pull the game out in the second half.

Leading the second half effort was area standout, Bernard Johnson. Johnson scored 12 of his team's points in the last half.

It was also Johnson who was given the nod to attempt to tie the game in the closing minutes. The play was set, but due to the pressures of time and a tenacious Falcon defense, he was given the ball too soon and was out of position. Johnson tried to find an open man but covered. He tried the shot but it was off.

The buzzer sounded and a tired Johnson walked to the bench to get out of the way of the frantic fans that had stormed the playing area.

The look was a look of humility and defeat. It is the look that only an athlete can express. There was no anger written on his face—just one of disappointment.

"I really wanted this game for the team and for all the people that have kept up with us this year," said Johnson. "I had two wonderful years playing for Coach (Kenneth) Williams and I would have liked to win the conference for him in my last year of play. I wanted this very much for everyone I guess."

Johnson was the team's leading scorer with an 18.4 point average and was also its leading rebounder with 14 per game.

He will not be a forgotten athlete, not a forgotten gentleman of the sport of basketball.

Johnson Signs Odessa JC Grant

BY CHARLES WILLIAMS
Sports Staff Writer

Bernard Johnson, 6-2 basketball star with C.A. Brown High School, has signed a grant-in-aid to play basketball with Odessa Junior College in Odessa, Texas.

Johnson, who averaged 18.4 points and 14 rebounds a game with the Panthers last season was a vital instrument in leading C.A. Brown to a 16-4 record and second place in Conference 8-AAA.

"After being offered 16 scholarships to various schools around the country, I felt Odessa had the best offer. I'm very happy to sign with the school.

"I like competition," Johnson added, "and I'm looking forward to the challenges that all men dream of.

"Mom didn't want me to go quite that far away, but the education I will be receiving will be the best.

"The school has an enrollment of 3,500 and is situated on 80 acres of land to give one an indication of how large it is," Johnson said.

Coach Kenneth Williams was one of the people that helped Johnson make up his mind, telling him the offer with Odessa was too good a thing to turn down.

"Coach Williams wanted me to go there and so did Coach Buddy Othick of Wichita State. He was very interest-in me, and told me I would play basketball and get a good background at Odessa."

Johnson intends to complete his education with Wichita State immediately finishing his studies at Odessa.

"There are only three people returning to Odessa for next year's varsity basketball team, and I don't like to sit on the bench, so I'll be out there hustling.

"I didn't have the finances," said Johnson, "to go to the school on my own."

Vanderbilt parted ways with all-time winningest coach Melanie Balcomb earlier this week. The

"There's really no one since I've been here or since I've been in coaching that has stood out as much as he has," USC assistant coach Sammy Esposito said of Cone's impressive run. "From the consistency of the day in and day out and the multi-hit games, it's hard to say you've seen somebody on a hotter streak."

Cone has recorded multiple hits in five of USC's past seven games and went 10-for-12 over the weekend against Missouri to earn SEC Player of the Week honors.

His consistent swing makes it easier for him to make contact, and for the past several weeks he has put the ball in play where defenders are not.

Cone has struck out only 14 times in 130 at bats and is third on the team in walks with 24, despite starting the seventh-most games.

"It's a short, compact, extremely balanced swing and approach that has helped him to the success he's had," Esposito said. "He's spread out in his stance and he really doesn't stride at all. Throughout baseball and even in the big leagues you look at guys that have a big leg kick or a lot of movement, but Gene's pretty simplified. He leans back, picks his foot up and puts it right back down and there's not much hand movement in there. Gene's set in his hitting position pretty much as soon as he gets in the batter's box."

Cone also knows who he is at the plate, a contact hitter. He enters an at-bat looking to make solid contact and isn't concerned with hitting the ball out of the park.

"As a leadoff hitter his job is to get on base and see pitches. He does an unbelievable job of working counts and doing what needs to be done for his team," Liggett said.

Because of the simplicity of Cone's swing, it does not change whether he is facing a Friday-night starter in the SEC throwing 98 miles per hour, or a midweek pitcher from a smaller school throwing in the 70s or 80s.

"He's very direct with the barrel of the bat to the baseball. That's where he gives himself a chance to have success," Esposito said. "He's got a short swing, and his barrel is in the zone for a very long time. Whether he's beat out or not, he has a chance
