#97 on Director Phil's list to see & do in state parks -Take a walk on Limestone Trail, at Santee State Park, where the bridge crosses the pond. It's a place of solitude, only interrupted by shore birds and the occasional alligator. Make sure to check our Facebook page if you've missed #100-98! <https://southcarolinaparks.com/santee>

Cassandra Morrow Harris It truly is a peaceful spot!

Meredith Dorfer Jones My husband and I walked this trail today! What are all the tiny little frogs called? We also saw a black snake slither across our path.
