

2012 PORK PROJECTS AND EARMARK LIST

One of the benefits that came out of the tight financial times South Carolina has seen the last few years has been the elimination of the pork projects and special interest payouts that for too long were a hallmark of our political system. Many of you showed political courage in stepping away from the parochial ways of our past and truly fighting to protect the taxpayers of our state as a whole. In reviewing this budget, one of the largest disappointments has been the return of this nefarious process. What follows is a list of those projects – and an opportunity to confirm to the people of South Carolina that our government does not believe in, and will not accept, pork barrel spending.

2012 - 2013 BUDGET PORK LIST

Taxing the entire state to fund a legislator's handpicked nonprofit or local project to help them gain political favor is not in the best interest of the State's taxpayers as a whole and should not be the role of State Government.
