

*When there was no standing physician or nurse in the room, the women interviewed who should make the decision of whether or not to abort or continue the pregnancy.