Subject: RE: Fines restarted in MOX lawsuit

Quote from Governor Nikki Haley, "The court's ruling is a step in the right direction. After years of broken promises, we believe that the Department of Energy should pay any fines the agency owes and remove nuclear waste from our state. South Carolina will not be a permanent dumping ground - it's a critical quality of life issue."

Quote from Gov. Nikki Haley, "Today's news is another reminder that the Department of Energy has not lived up to its promises, and we will not back down: South Carolina will not be a permanent dumping ground for nuclear waste."

Quote from Haley press secretary Chaney Adams, "The governor has been clear: South Carolina will not be a dumping ground for nuclear waste. We deserve better than the years of broken promises we've seen from the federal government, and we won't back down on what is an important economic development and quality of life issue for the people of our state."

Quote from Haley press secretary Chaney Adams, "The governor has been clear about this critical quality of life issue since the beginning of the administration: South Carolina will not be a dumping ground for weapons-grade plutonium and nuclear waste."

Chaney -

Will you please pull the last few things we've said? Let's look at what we've said since we likely won't offer anything new.

David and Richele,

Has anything new developed here? Is there something we can add to this story?

Hi, Chaney. Hope you had a great and safe holiday season.

Working on an article about SC restarting the fining on MOX and wanted to get a statement from the governor's office on the need to keep the feds' feet to the fire on this issue. Hoping to hear back by days end. Thanks!
