Here you go Mary.

Quote from Haley press secretary Chaney Adams, "We are a compassionate state with a history of welcoming those in need, but the safety and security of South Carolinians is the governor's highest priority. While we cannot stop the federal government from sending Syrian refugees to South Carolina, the governor has been in contact with FBI Director Comey and made it clear to Secretary of State Kerry: Until refugees from Syrian can be properly vetted, it's not appropriate for them to be sent to South Carolina or any other state."

I can buy a little more time, if that helps. Anything you can get me by 6 p.m. would be great.
Thanks!
