Office of the Governor
1205 Pendleton Street
Columbia, South Carolina 29201

Dear Governor Haley:

My name is Macy Morrow and I reside in Clemson, South Carolina during the collegiate school year and Columbia at all other times. I am a freshman in the Bridge to Clemson program at Tri-County Technical College.

I am writing to you to discuss the Domestic Violence issue in our State and your interest with law H.4666. Last year, in 2015 South Carolina ranked worst in the United States for domestic violence against women that ended in death. This is obviously a very serious social issue that needs to be addressed. Being a young female myself, I find it very scary that my State carries such a ranking.

In recent news I saw that you signed into law H.4666, the bill that created a Domestic Violence Fatality Review Committee in each of 16 SC Circuits. This seems to be a big step in addressing the Domestic Violence and I thank you for signing this law in to place. I do feel that there is more that can be done seeing as this is such a large issue. This is where I begin to wonder what is next for our State and Domestic Violence.

I truly appreciate your work in reducing Domestic Violence in South Carolina. I ask that you please send me a response letting me know if you have any other plans to reduce Domestic Violence in our great State.

Thank you for your time and considering my request.

Sincerely,
Macy Morrow
