Senator Bryant,

We did it. Thanks to you and our broad, diverse community of supporters, we reached our final fundraising goal by our midnight deadline and will start the new year strong.

I will soon celebrate my first anniversary at the helm of the Coastal Conservation League. I have learned so much in my role and am inspired and encouraged by your support. Most of all, I am grateful for your commitment to protect this place and look forward to earning more environmental wins together in 2019.

January 8 marks the start of another legislative session in Columbia and one of our busiest seasons. As always, our team stands ready to represent you and our coastal communities on the most pressing conservation issues.

You'll hear more soon from Director of Government Relations Merrill McGregor on the bills we are tracking closely—on issues like offshore drilling, plastic pollution, and resilience—and decisions related to how we move around our region, generate power, and protect special places.

Your engagement at the State House and your calls, emails, and visits to lawmakers make a difference. Today, reach out to your legislators to let them know you'll be paying attention and asking for their action in 2019.

Thank you,

Laura
