Hurricane Matthew Status of Operations

6:00 AM

October 15, 2016

Statewide Summary – Districts are finishing the removal of downed trees and debris from roads and are transitioning to repair activities. There are 10 maintenance crews from the upstate and midlands assisting Districts 5 and 6 with road clearing and repair activities. Additional crews are available if needed. 12 sign crews from the upstate and midlands have been dispatched to the hardest hit areas of District Five and 1 sign crews have been dispatched to District Six to begin replacing damaged and missing signs. SCDOT and contract signal crews are working to repair traffic signal systems, however, some signals are still not functional due to lingering power outages. SCDOT Bridge Inspectors are also working to assess conditions such as scour and support structures for damage. Closed bridges are re-opened to traffic only after Bridge Inspection teams have performed a thorough inspection. The districts are resting half of their crews today and Sunday after 12 days of work without a day off.

Damage assessment teams have begun to review infrastructure damage and prepare estimates and quantities necessary to effect repairs using in-house and contractor forces.

The movable bridges on the Intercoastal Waterway in Beaufort, Charleston, and Horry Counties are available to open to marine traffic.

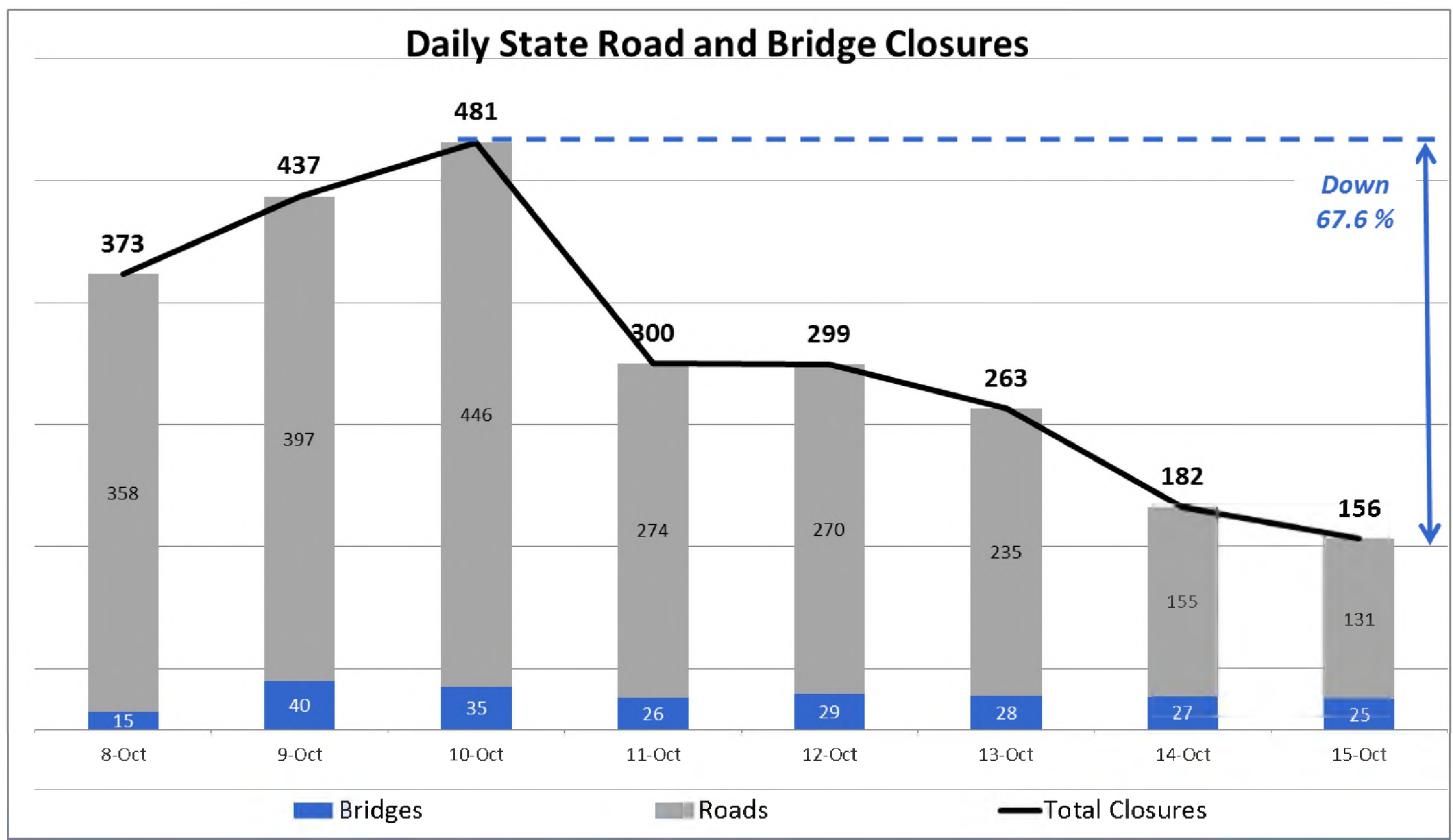

Due to ongoing flooding and areas that have not been assessed, motorists are urged to travel with extreme caution until waters recede and roads are cleared. Conditions are still hazardous with the possibility of trees, debris, and downed power lines blocking roads. Power outages are widespread in the hardest hit areas.

Other Modes of Transportation

Freight Rail

CSX (Class I)

CSX is continuing to evaluate and repair the A and S lines line that run from Florida up the east coast through Washington, D.C. Large areas of the system are still impacted, particularly south and east of Columbia. The A-Line (I-95 corridor) runs through Florence, Lake City, Kingstree, Charleston and Yemassee, and is expected back in service today or tomorrow. This includes the Charleston and South End subdivisions in SC. The S line runs through Cheraw, Camden, Columbia, Denmark and Hardeeville.

The following subdivisions are still undergoing evaluations and repairs and will be out of service for a longer period of time, with no ETA at this time:

- Andrews subdivision, between Andrews and Dillon
- Columbia subdivision, between Columbia and Fairfax
- Creston subdivision, between Creston and Holly Hill
- Eastover subdivision, between Columbia and Sumter
- Georgetown subdivision, between Andrews and Georgetown
- Orangeburg subdivision, between Sumter and Orangeburg
- Lane subdivision, between Sumter and Florence

The rest of the CSX network in SC is operating normally.

R.J. Corman (Shortline - Marion and Horry Counties)

During their assessment, 20 washouts, flooded for 12 miles, one Locomotive stuck in Nichols. They are looking at a timeline of 4 weeks to be running again.

Passenger Rail

Amtrak has cancelled service on routes through SC that use the CSX mainline. These include all Silver Star, Silver Meteor, and Palmetto services in the state, with impacts to stations in Camden,
