Kelley McCoy Ok I'm all about the rustic sites up front by the beach, been waiting for these to reopen as they are my favorite sites. But why are they so dang close together?? No one wants to be that close to a neighbor with no vegetation or something in between for a little privacy. Maybe make less sites up front so you can spread them out more and ppl can actually enjoy their time there. How the heck are you suppose to be able to fit 2 tents, 2 cars, 6 people and a canopy on that tiny spot?? It could probably be done if we don't have to put everything on a tent pad. 🙄

Jason Gause To add to your post. Why do the camp pads for tents have to be rock? RV or camper? Fine. But why rock when its for tents? Doesn't make for a good tent camping experience.
