How'd it go this morning? Charlotte excited or sad?

I just looked at the banners and we didn't include HHS or DSS on those so guess we don't need to include on certificate. We'll make sure their logos are on the brochures and such.

Guess we should add the SWIB logo? Thoughts? I've attached in case. Also need to shrink SCMA's logo a little bit.

When do you think she can sign? I like your idea about Corrections. Get 'em.

If you have the logos and send them to me, I can take care of it. I have lots of invisible tables, etc. in that document in order to make the formatting work. Someone else might have a little trouble working around some of my chewing gum and bailing wire.

Will add other logos. Send something in a bit.

How's this? Not much text for folks to get agitated about. Has the other logos, so folks can feel the love. Thing is, if she's gonna hand over something, she's going to insist on actually signing it instead of having it autopenned. So that's bad news for the 9AM deadline.

The good news is (1) I would hope that Corrections can be a little flexible, if they're asked nicely and (2) worst case scenario, I think we've gotten Order of the Palmetto deals framed on a quick turn-around when necessary, so there may be an emergency fallback. I'll ask about that, as a Plan B. Although like I said, I'm still voting for the dollar store.

Charlotte's first day of kindergarten is tomorrow, so I probably won't be gettable until 8:30 or so.

Oh yeah—big and need to add to comments. The panels going on the new Darla Moore building were made by Alucoil.
