Subject: SALT LS: sad news re USC Law School SALT Prof. Bill Quirk

---

From USC Law School Dean Robby Wilcox:

It is with great sadness that I report the death this morning of our long-time colleague and senior member of the faculty, Bill Quirk. As all of you were aware, Bill had dealt with a series of medical issues in the past several years, and he passed away peacefully around dawn. Bill had taught at the School of Law since 1970, and he devoted his career to helping his students. He remained in close contact with many of them, and a large number of our alumni enjoyed close personal and professional friendships with Bill. A more complete tribute to Bill will be posted later today on our website. His daughter, Augusta, is arriving in Columbia today. We expect to have a memorial service at an appropriate time, honoring Bill's life, but any arrangements will not be made until later. Please keep Augusta in your thoughts, along with Bill's friends at the School of Law and elsewhere who took such wonderful and loving care of Bill over the past several years.

Rob
