Subject: Orlando reaction

Chaney,

I saw Gov. Haley put out a statement on Facebook and Twitter regarding the Orland shooting.

Will she be making any further comments? Are there any events planned for today/tomorrow/this week in reaction to this shooting, i.e. a moment of silence, etc.?

Has the governor spoken with any Florida officials, i.e. Gov. Rick Scott in expressing condolences/sending assistance?

Is this tragedy even more devastating/bringing up feelings due to its proximity to the Emanuel anniversary?

Does this shooting change the governor's stance on the need for gun reforms, especially closing the Charleston Loophole?

Please let me know as soon as you can, Chaney.

Thanks,

Gavin
