Dear Nikki,

The frequency and increasing sophistication of fraud threats are causing government agencies to follow the lead of financial institutions and re-evaluate their security measures. But legacy interrogation processes ("what was your first pet's name?") are frustrating for citizens and consume contact center resources.

Enter voice biometrics: a secure, easy solution for decreasing fraud and improving the contact center experience with a proven ROI.

We'll answer these questions and more:

- How does voice biometrics work? Is it accurate?
- How can voice biometrics increase customer satisfaction and agent productivity?
- What are the deployment options for citizen and employee authentication using voice biometrics?

If you're serious about providing secure access to information and a better citizen experience, this Webinar will share everything you need to know to get started.
