

Account: South Carolina State Parks

Content type: Facebook Page - Timeline posts

Record ID: 20110510South-Carolina-State-ParksTimeline-posts52748_209343555754474

South Carolina State Parks

at 17:27:35 on 5/10/2011 UTC ·

Check out the Outdoor Insider's latest hiking adventure to Jones Gap & Caesars Head --- two hiking meccas in SC!

Check out some of S.C.'s best hiking trails - SC Insiders Travel Blog

Some of the best hiking trails in South Carolina are located in the Mountain Bridge Wilderness Area, 11,000 acres of pristine woodlands on the Blue Ridge Escarpment in the S.C. Upcountry. Jones Gap

DISCOVERSOUTHCAROLINA.COM

Laura Di Girolamo Simoes Love Caesars Head State Park! Hiking was the best.

at 17:37:15 on 5/10/2011 UTC

Cathy Puppyluv hey Marie, did I miss the write-up you were doing on upstate waterfalls?

at 21:26:11 on 5/10/2011 UTC

Jim Kelleher There are so many good loops in both areas of the parks. I don't like out and backs. We have been having fun out of Jones Gap. Up past Hospital Rock run the ridgeline to Falls Creek Falls and back in on the black top. Caesar's Head is awesome too. A Beautiful Area!!!!

at 22:21:32 on 5/10/2011 UTC

Bob Bannister Rainbow Falls, Hospital Rock, and the Old Jones Gap Road are some of my best Camp Greenville memories (1964 - 1972).

at 2:29:11 on 5/11/2011 UTC

Tammy Smith Fink My boyfreind and I hiked 320 miles of NC and SC trails last year and I have to say, Jones Gap is our favorite:)

at 21:43:14 on 5/11/2011 UTC