Jason McDaniel Amber Meredith-Davis if they would put some of these in the other lakes they would stay booked I'm sure. Lake Russel has nothing like this on the SC side of the lake. Ok hartwell has 2 cabins... ridiculous! All the money we spend on taxes and lic fees and to top it off ramp fees. We don't get to see any of it. The state spends millions on lake murry. When lake Russel cant even get a trash can at the ramps.

at 10:33:58 on 4/19/2018 UTC

Hailey Coggins Dill What is the minimum night stay on these?

at 10:34:12 on 4/19/2018 UTC

Amber Meredith-Davis I've been a guest at all three parks. Other than maybe a holiday weekend, there are always sites available except for Dreher. I don't know how often you visit there, but it stays maxed out with the exception of winter. If they are going to invest in something it only makes sense to put these cabins where they will turn the most revenue. Contact your representatives and let them know about your concerns for our state parks.

at 15:02:34 on 4/19/2018 UTC

Tammie Evans Do you have pics of cabin 1 and rates..? Is the path to the bath house wheel chair friendly?

at 15:04:23 on 4/19/2018 UTC

Betsy Henderson Chandler Jonathan Chandler have to do this ASAP

at 15:05:59 on 4/19/2018 UTC

Tara Burch Bott Folks, it's not that complicated. They start taking reservations 4/20 for rentals 4/27 and beyond. Two night minimum. $48-$60/night. Beds for 4 people, but you can bring more if you bring something for them to sleep on. You can't put a tent on a cabin site. They are not deluxe suites (it's a state park) so use the bathhouse nearby, like everyone else. If you're disabled, cabin #1 and the bathhouse are wheelchair accessible. Likewise, service animals are permitted, but not pets because they have no way of knowing if you have a well-behaved good boy or a dog that chews and poops. Cabin may seem clean, but then the next visitor ends up with fleas. For pictures of Dreher Island State Park, go to the state park website or just google it.

Some questions make sense- is there a boat landing? Fishing? etc. but SO many of the questions in the comments have already been answered. And some people are getting mad about stuff that isn't even true.

Jacqueline Thomas You don't have to show documents. Actually it's against the law to ask anything other than if it is a service animal, and what service it provides. Once someone says yes, you're supposed to act like that animal isn't there. You might want to revise your policy before you get someone who wants to make a big deal about it.

are three sided with a few vents for air flow and only a few of those had actual floors. Its basically an upgraded tent site.

at 14:55:12 on 4/20/2018 UTC

Meagan Peake Cline Yea, we have 6 kids, 4 that would actually come with. Mattresses on the floor is how we travel often as very few places accommodate more than 4 people and renting 2 rooms defeats the purpose of a "family" vacation
at 15:10:07 on 4/20/2018 UTC

at 10:37:45 on 4/21/2018 UTC

Kimberly Drake according to ADA you are not to ask anything other than what behavior the animal is trained to do. It's an issue for every hospitality/tourism business since so many abuse the system. The animal is required to be in the company of its person and not left in the accommodation alone.

at 13:02:05 on 4/21/2018 UTC

at 23:58:53 on 4/24/2018 UTC

Linda Meetze Lucas Tony McDermott , responsible pet owners pick up after their furbabies. And rules against barking should be enforced. We've taken out girl to many pet friendly parks with no problem. We respect the rights of other campers.
