On background: The task force will meet in November. Currently the task force is focused on implementing recommendations regarding the criminal justice system, victim and offender services and community awareness, education and outreach.

Quote from Haley press secretary Chaney Adams, "The governor and the entire task force are continuing their work, and are as committed as ever to changing the culture in South Carolina, identifying and addressing violence issues at the ground level in our communities and working our way up."

Chaney,

Do you know when the task force will meet again and/or present its Phase III interim report?

Phase III: Implementation of Approved Proposals – Interim Report due in October 2015; <http://governor.sc.gov/Pages/TaskForceInformation.aspx>

Also, does the governor have any recent comment on what she feels this report will mean when it's finally issued later this year? Some people don't expect much to happen with CDV in the General Assembly next year; what are her thoughts on such a statement? Especially in light of the work her task force has done/will complete this past year?

I have a 3p deadline today, so if you can get back to me as soon as you can I'd appreciate it.

Gavin
