Humpback whale 🐋 sighting off the Myrtle Beach State Park fishing pier this afternoon! Park visitors and staff watched the whale for about 15 minutes. It actually came fairly close to shore at approximately 500 feet from the beach! It was too quick surfacing for a photo. This shot was taken during a previous sighting. Come out for some whale watching!

at 2:29:02 on 1/24/2019 UTC

Stacy Jones Lara. I think whales do a lot of their migrations north in late winter/early spring? I know the gray whales do around this time on the pacific side.

Anyway, maybe y'all will see one on your visit ☺
