On March 4-6, the annual Public-Private Partnership Conference & Expo returns to Dallas with over 1,250 senior representatives from governments, higher education institutions, and leading firms in the global construction and financial markets.

Attendees will discover new project delivery methods, strategies for implementing successful projects, the nuts and bolts of how deals operate, and how to manage risks associated with legal and financial frameworks.

Attendees will participate in interactive panels, workshops, and conversations specifically tailored to the needs of public agencies evaluating P3s. The conference is designed for all levels in the market including those beginning to explore P3s and seeking to better understand where alternative and accelerated project delivery methods can be applicable.

Mark your calendars to register by Friday, December 14th to save $200.
